SYRIA CONDEMNS U. S.

Middle East Doctrine Hit

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Foreign Minister Salah Bitar Monday blamed the Eisenhower Middle East Doctrine for Syria's troubles with the United States.

"Syria has been the target of destructive activities aimed at making her accept the Eisenhower Doctrine," Bitar said in a statement to a news conference.

"It is already known that the main object of the conspiracy to overthrow the Syrian and Egyptian regimes is to set up governments that will change from liberal foreign policies and join the imperialistic line."

Asked whether Syria might consider breaking relations with the United States, Bitar replied: "This question depends on the United States and steps she wants to adopt in the future."

Bitar denied that any of 10 officers fired from the Army at the weekend were arrested. He said the officers were dismissed "in the country's interests."

Reds In Full Control

This purge came with an Army shakeup that placed pro-Soviet officers in complete control of Syria's army. Gen. Afif Bizry, known throughout the Middle East as the Syrian Army's most extreme leftist, supplanted the moderate Gen. Tewfik Nizam Eddin as staff chief and commander.

The Syrian charge that the United States was plotting the overthrow of Premier Sabri Asali's leftist regime—denied by American authorities—was accompanied by the expulsion of three American diplomats from Damascus.

The United States retaliated by barring Syrian Ambassador Farid Zeinedine from returning to Washington and ejecting one of his aides.

Ike and Dulles Confer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower reviewed the sweep of U. S. foreign affairs, including this country's torn relations with Syria, Monday in a conference with Secretary of State Dulles.

Dulles was accompanied to the White House luncheon meeting by Undersecretary, Christian Herter, who has been in charge of the State Department during Dulles' nine-day absence on vacation.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told reporters the agenda included the administration's embattled foreign aid program and other State Department matters. He declined to comment specifically on Syria, but State Department aides said this was a prime topic of discussion at the Eisenhower-Dulles conference.

Publicly, the State Department adopted a watch-and-wait attitude toward Middle East developments.

No Comment Now

State Department Press Officer Lincoln White told newsmen: "We are following, of course, the situation closely but I have no comment to make for the time being."

After the White House session with Eisenhower, Dulles arranged to meet with British Ambassador Sir Harold Caccia. Caccia was understood to have sought the meeting to sound out the U. S. attitude toward an Arab move to have Britain labeled an aggressor in the Middle East Sultanate of Oman and Muscat. Caccia's call on the secretary also raised American-British consultations on Syrian developments to a higher level.

The United Nations Security Council meets in New York Tuesday to discuss a demand by the Arab League members of the U. N. British troops supported the Sultan in suppressing a revolt led by the Imam of Oman. For this, the Arabs want the council to brand Britain as an aggressor.

U. S. policy in any Middle East dispute is to be friendly with both sides.

London Not Worried

LONDON (AP)—The British Foreign Office Monday disclaimed any special feelings of anxiety over the situation in Syria, where Leftists have moved into command of the Army.

Privately, British officials expressed the view that the extent to which Syria has been brought under Kremlin control has been exaggerated.

A Foreign Office spokesman said the Syrian situation is the subject of normal consultations with the United States and other friendly governments. These presumably include the members of the 16-nation north atlantic alliance.

Stones Hurlled At Cops

Negroes Are In New Home; Fresh Violence

LEVITTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Stones were hurled Monday night in an eruption of new violence after a Negro family moved into this all white community of 15,000 homes.

A state trooper and a photographer were struck by missiles thrown by someone in a crowd of 250 persons held back by police about two blocks from the ranch home of William Myers, 34-year-old Negro.

"You have struck one of my men," State Police Lt. J. M. Wicker announced over a loudspeaker. "I will not tolerate this. I give you 10 minutes to get back to your homes."

His announcement was met by boos and jeers, but the crowd started to disperse. About 150 persons continued to mill about, however.

Riot Sticks Used

Then Wicker, a veteran trooper, ordered 22 of his men to line up with riot sticks across the normally quiet residential street and the crowd was pushed back another 20 yards.

A truck driver identified as Donald Walker, 34, was clouted on the shoulders for what Wicker said was cursing officers and resisting the push-back. He was taken to a justice of the peace to be arraigned.

Hit by stones, but not seriously hurt, were State Police Sgt. George Gollub and reporter-photographer Gordon Parker of the Bristol (Pa.) Courier.

Myers, his wife, Daisy, 32, and one of their three children moved into their recently-purchased home despite protests from many of their 60,000 neighbors in this unique planned city.

"We're here to stay," Myers said as he carted personal belongings into the $12,150 home. Furnishings were moved in last week.

Earlier, Myers held a press conference in his new home, telling reporters:

"All I want to do is be a good neighbor and I hope others do the same."

"I don't believe the demonstrations that have been held present a true picture of the feelings of the people of Levittown. All people are good of heart."

Expected Trouble

"I expected there might be some trouble when we bought this place, but I didn't think there would be so much."

The 34-year-old World War II veteran emphasized that he had no backing, financial or otherwise, from any group or organization.

Motorbike Crash Victim Critical

Jim Jacobson, 16, of 625 No. 25th was reported in critical condition at St. Elizabeth Hospital according to his attending physician.

He suffered a kidney and spleen injury, internal hemorrhaging, and a possible skull fracture in a motor bike crash on 25th and Dudley Sunday.

Doctor Hits 100,000 Feet

AF Officer To Stay In Upper Atmosphere For 24 Hours

CROSBY, Minn. (AP) — An Air Force doctor probing outer space in a huge plastic balloon was believed to have set new altitude mark of nearly 19 miles late Monday when ground observers estimated the bag hit 100,000 feet.

Dr. David G. Simons of Lancaster, Pa. riding in a gondola suspended from the helium-filled bag, radioed that he was very comfortable and feeling fine after eight hours aloft. He said temperature in the aluminum capsule was 64 degrees.

Col. J. W. McCurdy of the Air Force ground observers for the project said any substantiation of the record would have to await check of the balloon's instruments. He explained that estimates from the ground were subject to "wide error."

McCurdy said the helium in the balloon contracted when the sun went down, the bag dropped to an estimated 80,000 feet where it was believed it would drift through the night. The balloon will again rise when the sun comes up, expanding the gas, he reported. He called the slump in altitude natural and expected.

McCurdy said radar tracking disclosed the balloon had shifted somewhat from its direct westerly route and was spotted above Sisseton in extreme northwestern South Dakota late Monday night. He said it was pursuing a southwesterly course at about 80,000 foot altitude.

12½ MPH

From a mine pit 450 feet deep on the Cuyuna Iron Range near here, the balloon had traveled about 100 miles west and slightly north to a point just southeast of Detroit Lakes. It had averaged about 12½ miles per hour since its 9:30 a.m. release.

H. C. Winzen, whose firm, Winzen Research, built the huge bag, said the original plan to have Dr. Simons stay aloft 24 hours would be carried out in view of his reported good condition.

Predicted

He said the balloon was following its predicted course and would cruise across North Dakota and possibly into eastern Montana during the night.

The bright and shimmering balloon was expected to hit a peak altitude of 100,000 feet, some 19 miles. But this cannot be certified until the bag comes down and the instruments it carried are calibrated. Estimates of its altitude currently are being made by the ground party.

The altitude, if finally confirmed by a check of instruments when the balloon comes down, would be a new record for a manned balloon flight. The previous record of 96,000 feet was set in June when Capt. Joseph Kittenger went up to test equipment to be used in Monday's ascension.

The flight, said Col. John P. Stapp, rocket sled expert and director of the "man high" balloon project, will provide important information to the Air Force in future air travel in that part of space.

The Rev. James Stilwell, St. Matthew's rector, said future plans call for the removal of the present rector's home located at 2325 So. 24th adjacent to the church to make way for some future building expansion. He said he did not know when he and his family would move into their new home.

Thunderstorms Seen In West

Thunderstorms that dotted the western part of Nebraska Monday night were expected to reappear in that area Tuesday and a gradual warming trend was predicted for the state.

Highs in the state Tuesday were expected to be between 85 and 95. Monday's top temperatures ranged from 90 at Chadron and Sidney to 85 at Omaha and Grand Island, with Lincoln reporting 86.

Thunderstorms were reported in the Sidney, Scottsbluff and Chadron areas Monday night and Chadron had light rain showers.

Opinion On Signatures Is Sought

Withdrawal Cards Start Coming In

An official request for an opinion from Attorney General C. S. Beck regarding the legality of post card requests for withdrawal of signatures from gas tax petitions was filed late Monday.

Deputy Secretary of State Roland Luedtke asked the attorney general to advise the Secretary of State's office on both the legality of the form post card withdrawal requests and administrative procedure.

Deputy Attorney General Clarence A. H. Meyer said no action would be taken on Luedtke's request until Beck returns to the office Thursday.

State Senators David Tews of Norfolk and Monroe Bixler of Harrison, co-chairmen of a legislative committee for the Better Nebraska Association which is fighting the petition campaign to suspend or repeal the added cent of gas tax, launched the post card campaign last Friday.

Letters from Tews and Bixler are being sent to "Automobile Owners" regarding tax methods to build roads. Enclosed in the letters are post cards entitled "Removal of Name Certificate," with the Secretary of State's name and office as the return address.

The post card provides that persons who have signed petitions against the added gas tax, may sign the card, send it to the secretary of state, and have their names withdrawn from the petitions.

Luedtke asked the attorney general whether a person signing a referendum petition has a right to withdraw his name, the withdrawal should be made "subsequent to the time the (petition) is officially filed . . . or must it be made on or before the legal deadline?"

In asking for an opinion on administrative procedure, Luedtke said the "proper comparison of signatures poses a particular administrative problem . . . when we shall be dealing with 30,000 to 60,000 individual signatures."

Under the law, makes it mandatory to register irrigation wells. The law, which takes effect Sept. 20, also raises the fee from $5 to $7.50 per well.

Until Sept. 20, well registration remains voluntary, but the job can be done now at a saving of $2.50.

Under the law, wells previously dug must be registered before Jan. 1, 1959. New wells must be registered within 15 days of completion.

The well registration law and another setting standards for the spacing of wells, also passed by the last Legislature, represented the first state controls over Nebraska's groundwater resources, sometimes referred to as one of the state's greatest natural resources.

Farm House Blaze Claims 4th Victim

Twin Daughters, Step-Son Die Earlier In Sidney Fire

SIDNEY, Neb. (AP)—A farm house fire Monday afternoon claimed its fourth victim, George Kittleman, who had suffered burns over 98 per cent of his body.

Kittleman died in a Sidney hospital about 3 p.m. (MST). His condition had been listed as "very critical" since the Monday morning fire. His wife, Pauline, remained in critical condition.

Dying in the fire were the Kittleman's 15-month-old twin daughters, Gloria Mae and Violet Virginia, and a youth identified as Harley Sinclair, 17-year-old son of Mrs. Kittleman by a former marriage.

Cheyenne County Attorney P. J. Heaton Jr. said the blaze erupted when Kittleman threw kerosene on a fire in an old-fashioned pot-bellied stove.

Heaton said that the twins and Mr. and Mrs. Kittleman were sleeping in the same room and that the stove was between them.

The Sinclair youth, who apparently suffocated, Heaton said, was in another room.

Sidney firemen called to the scene said they found the house in flames.

Mrs. Kittleman was quoted as saying she had attempted to get to the twins' bed after the explosion but was unable to do so.

Kittleman had been employed at the Sioux Ordnance Depot near Sidney before the family moved away from here about a year ago. They moved back about a week ago.

Trailer Colony May Become City Test Case

City officials are considering using a trailer colony in violation of several city ordinances to test the city's right to enforce trailer regulations.

Mayor Bennett Martin and city councilman two weeks ago took action against the trailer colony at 1255 So. 1st by ordering the shutting off of city water on July 30. At that time three unoccupied trailers occupied the lot at 1st and A.

Since that time no permit or request for zoning has been made. City Attorney Jack Pace reported Monday that an attorney representing the trailer owners had contacted him to explain that the colony is not legally a trailer colony because each occupant has bought the land on which his trailer stands.

Pace said no record of the sale has been made.

He pointed out that the city now is enforcing a law that no trailer may be parked for more than 24 hours outside a trailer court within the city limits.

Further study will be given to the matter to decide if a test case will be undertaken, Martin said.

Star Lineup Is Cut In Confidential Trial

... Evidence Limited In Libel Case

By BOB THOMAS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Prospects of a parade of celebrity witnesses were dashed Monday with a ruling that evidence would be limited to articles that had been read in the Confidential magazine libel trial.

The decision came after statuesque, red-haired Mylee Anderson, 22, took the stand to testify that she was the actress described in the September 1956 Confidential article, "That rug party in Mark Stevens' office."

Judge Herbert Walker heard arguments about introduction of the Stevens story and ruled that testimony would pertain to only those articles previously read into the record.

The Las Vegas, Nev., singer was excused.

The articles which the prosecution read to the jury concerned Maureen O'Hara, Alan Dale, Dorothy Dandridge, John Carroll, Frank Sinatra, Eddie Fisher, Anita Ekberg, Anthony Steele, Billy Daniels, Jayne Mansfield, Mickey Hargitay, Corinne Calvet, Dick Powell, June Allyson, Robert Mitchum and Mae West.

In addition, three entire issues of Confidential and one of its affiliate, Whisper, were introduced into evidence. Doubt remained whether articles in them could also be used in testimony.

List Cut

Defense attorney Arthur Crowley said the ruling would cut his list of witnesses by a considerable number. Prosecutor William Ritzel declared the limitation was a victory for his side.

Celebrities subpoenaed include Gary Cooper, Tab Hunter, Rory Calhoun, Walter Pidgeon, Lana Turner, Sonny Tufts, Dean Marina, Corinne Calvet, John Carroll, Tom Neal, Buddy Baer and bandleader Charlie Barnet.

Crowley suffered a setback in an attempt to introduce testimony that defendant Marjorie Meade and witness James Craig had taken a lie detector test. Judge Walker sustained Ritzel's objection to testimony by a lie detector expert.

Craig took the stand for additional questioning about the alleged necking party involving actress Maureen O'Hara and an unnamed Latin in Grauman's Chinese theater. Miss O'Hara denied the story over the weekend, declaring she was out of the country at the time Craig testified it happened.

Crowley asked if, during the incident, Craig had any doubts about the identity of the actress. The former assistant theater manager replied: "None whatsoever. It definitely was Miss O'Hara."

In suburban Beverly Hills, meanwhile, Miss O'Hara signed papers at her attorney's office increasing from one million to five million dollars the amount she seeks in libel damages from Confidential.

New Areas And Entrance At Dump Get Approval

Councilmen Vote After Touring Site

By NANCY BENJAMIN
Star Staff Writer

New dumping areas and a new entrance to the city dump were given City Council approval Monday after councilmen made an on-the-spot survey of recommended changes by Park Superintendent James Ager.

A single entrance opening from Highway 77 about 500 feet south of the road to Union Airport will be opened by early fall and main sanitary land fill operations will move north in the winter and south in the summer.

Councilmen and Mayor Bennett Martin were first taken along the present route to the dump along No. 48th, north of the Cornhusker Highway, to the present dumping site northeast of Arrow Airport.

Residents along the No. 48th route have protested the heavy truck travel and the road condition of the route which will not be used under Ager's new plans.

The new dump entrance from U. S. 77 has been approved by state and city traffic officials. The State Highway Department has consented to reduce speed limits at the entrance and post cautionary signs at the site.

A new landfill area will be started as soon as possible near the U. S. 77 entrance and paralleling the west edge of the highway, Ager said.

Won't Be Visible

In answer to councilmen's inquiries, Ager said the dump site near the highway will not be visible to any extent by motorists because of a 12 to 15 foot embankment which will be put up on the highway side of the dump.

The entire area from No. 48th east to U. S. 77 will eventually be filled in and raised eight feet by dumping operations which Ager estimates will take 15 or more years to accomplish.

The city now has a lease for the tract and will continue to dump at the north end of the area during winter months when prevailing winds might blow paper and refuse toward the industrial district along the highway. Operations at the south part of the tract, near the U. S. 77 entrance, will be restricted to summer months when southerly winds will blow away from the city.

Mayor Bennett Martin expressed concern that the heavy truck traffic, estimated at 250 trucks daily to the dump and back onto the highway may cause some traffic hazard on the U. S. 77 route which goes north from Lincoln to Wahoo. He pointed out that trucks entering the dump must make a left-hand turn across the southbound lane of highway traffic.

Man Admits 4 Slayings In '46 Holdups

AIKEN, S. C. (AP) — A mild-mannered, bespectacled Negro with a weakness for "good liquor" has admitted killing four Aiken County residents in a series of 1946 robberies.

Sheriff Wyman Busch Monday said the confession of 49-year-old Monroe Hickson "probably will wrap up" the previously unsolved cases.

Busch said another Negro, L. D. Harris, was convicted and nearly executed for one of the crimes. His case was appealed successfully to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Busch quoted Hickson as saying he shot Dave Garrett, an Aiken store owner, April 17, 1946. About a week later, according to his statement, he robbed and fatally shot Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Barnett, who operated a grocery store near the city limits.

In September of the same year, Hickson said he robbed and killed Mrs. David Weisburg, operator of a dry goods store here.

"Trouble"

Busch quoted Hickson as saying liquor caused his "troubles" and was drunk every time he committed a robbery.

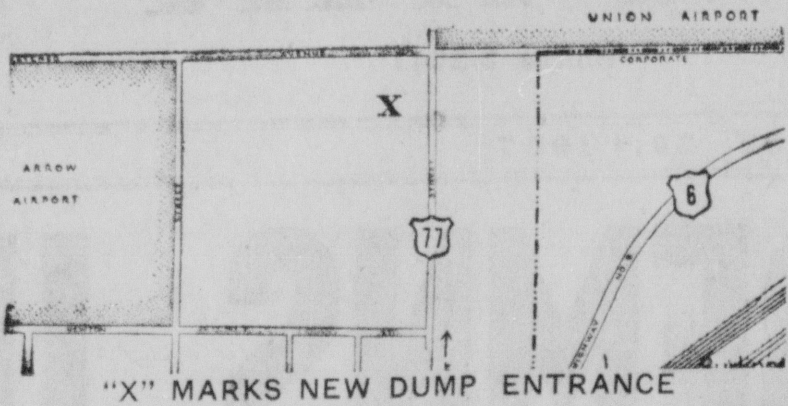

Hickson, an ex-convict, was arrested Aug. 8 for the bludgeoning-robbery of a Grantville store operator, Miss Lucy Hill Parker. She still is in serious condition from a head injury.

Busch said he began questioning Hickson about the 11-year-old slayings after noticing similarities among the last robbery and the earlier cases.

Busch said Hickson also admitted the $6 robbery of a liquor store in December, 1946. A store employee, Mrs. Christine Cholakis, was struck with a brick during the robbery. She suffered severe head injuries but recovered.

Begum Won't Attend
CANNES, France (AP)—The Begum Aga Khan let it be known she will not attend the wedding of her stepson, Prince Sadruddin Khan, to the London model, Nina Dyer. The wedding is to take place Aug. 27 in Geneva, Switzerland. The official reason given was the nervous depression from which the Begum is suffering since the death of Aga Khan, the Ismaili Moslem leader.

Chadderdon Wins
James G. Chadderdon of Lincoln, Neb., won first place at the Iowa State Fair Monday in the general category of photographic salon entries.

Plan Sought On State-Iowa Highway Link

WASHINGTON (AP)—Delegations from Omaha and Council Bluffs met Monday with Bertram Tallamy, federal highway administrator, asking him to decide on the routing of Interstate Highway in Omaha-Council Bluffs area.

The Iowa Highway Commission reportedly wants to proceed with the interstate highway across Iowa to Loveland, while the delegation here wanted the Bureau of Public Roads to intervene and have Iowa first build a diagonal route into Omaha-Council Bluffs connecting with the Nebraska interstate highway.

Sen. Curtis (R-Neb) said he understood one proposed highway routing was through Council Bluffs into downtown Omaha near Strategic Air Command Headquarters and the stockyards-meat packing district, which the delegation favored. The other routing would be in north part of Omaha, reportedly favored by Iowa High Commission.

Traffic Studies
Tallamy said he would consider the delegation's position, and Sen. Hruska (R-Neb) said he thinks the decision will be based on traffic studies.

Among those attending conference in addition to Hruska, Curtis, Tallamy and other roads bureau officials were Rep. Cunningham (R-Neb); Harry Coffey, Mike Russell and Fred Curtis, Omaha; publisher Robert O'Brien of the Council Bluffs Nonpareil and Fred Day, Council Bluffs.

Coffee said Iowa's proposed routing would miss the Nebraska proposed route some 20 miles, and that this would be a distortion of the intent of the law setting up federal interstate highway system.

Typhoon Spares Okinawa, Japan

TOKYO (AP)—Typhoon Agnes spared Okinawa and southern Japan from her full fury Tuesday and churned toward the west coast of South Korea.

The season's first big storm, with center winds of 140 miles an hour, sent hundreds of Japanese fishing boats scurrying for cover in the ports of Red China and Japan.

The storm narrowly missed Okinawa, a big U. S. military base, and then headed for Kyushu, Japan's southernmost island. Then it swerved toward Korea.

Carpenter Plans Scottsbluff Liquor Control Campaign

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb. (AP)—Terry Carpenter said Monday he will open a petition drive as soon as the forms can be prepared for a vote here on the question of limiting the number of liquor licenses in the city.

Carpenter Monday night was refused an on and off sale beer license for a tavern he wished to open in Scottsbluff. Scottsbluff liquor dealers and temperance groups opposed Carpenter's application. A liquor dealer association spokesman used as one argument against a license for Carpenter the fact that this city already has 29 liquor and beer licenses of various types which he said was far above the recommended level of one for each 1,000 in population.

Carpenter told the council he would withdraw his application if that body would pass an "iron-clad" ordinance limiting the number of local licenses to 15. The suggestion was opposed by the tavern owners.

Girard Receives Court Summons For Appearance

TOKYO (Tuesday) (INS)—GI William S. Girard received a summons to appear in a Japanese court next Monday for the opening of his tensely-awaited trial for manslaughter.

The document, issued by the Maebashi District Court, was delivered to the 22-year-old Stretcher, Ill., soldier at the U. S. Army's Camp Drew, north of Tokyo.

Its issuance and delivery comprised nothing more than a formality required by Japanese law. The U. S. Army already has announced it will bring Girard to Maebashi for the trial. The GI currently is restricted to barracks at Camp Drew.

The "Girard Case" stirred up an international controversy capped by a U. S. Supreme Court ruling upholding the American government in its decision to waive jurisdiction in favor of the Japanese authorities.

The case stems from the fatal shooting of a Japanese woman, Mrs. Naka Sakai, 46, last Jan. 30 as she was scavenging for scrap metal on the U. S. Army's Soga-gahara firing range near Maebashi.

News of friends on vacation, marriages, engagements, parties, P.T.A. notes and club meetings makes good reading in the Sunday paper.

All-Federal Atom Plant Plan Out

Senate-House Group Exempts Hallam Job

WASHINGTON—A compromise Monday by the Senate-House conference committee on the atomic authorization act knocked out a provision under which the federal government would have directed the construction of the reactor to be built at Hallam, Neb.

The Nebraska plant is to be built by Consumers Public Power District.

As a result of the compromise move, negotiations between the AEC and Consumers would continue without intervention by Congress. Under the original plan, which will continue if the bill passes in its present form, Consumers is negotiating for a contract under which the Nebraska public power group would pay about $5,000,000 of the cost of the reactor.

Apparently left in the bill was the authorization for the needed federal funds for construction of the plant under the contract now being negotiated.

No Comment—Yet

(In Columbus, R. L. Schacht, general manager of Consumers, said Monday night he would have no comment to make on the Senate-House compromise until he had seen the full bill.)

In addition to the action on the Consumers provision of the bill, the compromise cut out $40,000,000 for construction of a natural uranium gas-cooled reactor at Arco, Idaho.

Left in the bill, in a move interpreted as a defeat for the administration which wanted the projects cut out, was a provision for the federal government to build four reactors for rural power co-ops at Hersey, Mich., Elk River, Minn., and Chugach, Alaska, and for a municipal plant for the city of Piqua, Ohio.

Cops Show Up

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—Ten policemen showed up when Mrs. Elsa Schenkel, a city tax clerk, dropped her pencil at City Hall. She accidentally triggered the holdup alarm when she knelt to pick it up.

Sen. Curtis Says CPPD Not Liable Over Investment

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Curtis (R-Neb) said Monday he has been advised by the Atomic Energy Commission that Consumers Public Power District of Nebraska is not liable beyond its initial investment in an atomic reactor.

Sen. Anderson (R-NM) said in the Senate Friday that the power district might have to take a loss of 10 or 15 million dollars "if it has guessed incorrectly."

Curtis said he was told Consumers is not liable beyond its initial investment of $5,200,000. He said the AEC had promised him a statement confirming this.

Government to Pay
Anderson, in debate on the atomic energy projects bill, said that under the present arrangement the Government would pay the district $18,165,000 for preconstruction research and development.

Curtis said he was told by the AEC that Anderson was incorrect. Curtis said the AEC had advised him that any increased costs for preconstruction research and development would be borne by the Government.

McElroy Is Confirmed

... As Defense Chief

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Monday propelled Neil N. McElroy from soap to soldiers by confirming his nomination as secretary of defense.

The 32-year-old manufacturer is resigning as head of the Procter & Gamble Soap Co. to succeed the retiring Charles E. Wilson about Oct. 1.

The Senate also confirmed by voice vote the nomination of James N. Smith Jr., 47-year-old Colorado rancher, as new foreign aid chief. He succeeds James B. Hollister of Cincinnati as director of the International Co-operation Administration.

Wilson, now vacationing in northern Michigan, has told reporters he plans to remain in the defense job through September.

In Cincinnati, McElroy said he still has some things to do around P&G and doesn't know when he'll move into the Pentagon.

S. KOREAN ARMY TO GET CUT

... Funds Short

SEOUL (INS)—United Nations Commander Gen. G. H. Decker said Monday the South Korean Army, after being built to a peak of 20 combat divisions, will be cut this year "for economy reasons."

He emphasized, at the same time, that the cutback was not to be taken as an indication that the threat of Communist aggression in Asia had lessened.

He pointed out in an interview that the Communists still maintain a 750,000-man army in North Korea, with a strong air arm and with "the capability of attacking at any time."

Jet Landed On Carrier; Pilot Watches

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—A twin-jet F3D Sky Knight was landed on the aircraft carrier Antietam seven times Monday without the pilot touching his controls.

LT. Comdr. Don Walker, Patuxent, Md., actually placed his hands on his head during one of the push-button landings on the carrier in the Gulf of Mexico off from Pensacola.

They were part of the first public demonstration by the Navy, Bell Aircraft Corp. and Reeves Instrument Corp. of an automatic landing of a plane on a carrier at sea. The electronic system previously has been demonstrated on land.

The device, still in the experimental stage, is designed to relieve the aviation field of one of its most vital hazards, the weathered-in landing field. It has been under test since 1950.

Bell engineers said the heart of the system is a highly sensitive radar unit which exactly computes the flight path of the plane, transmits the information back to a data link in the plane, which in turn feeds the data into the aircraft's automatic pilot.

The system controls the plane precisely until the wheels touch the deck or ground.

It was first tried at sea on the Antietam a week ago. Monday's seven brought the total of successful landings at sea to 34 without a hitch.

Under the system, the pilot approaches within three miles of the carrier, pushes a button and sits back as his craft is brought home.

8-Day Double Date Ends For Youthful Newlywed Couple

MADISON, N.J. (AP)—An eight-day double date ended Monday for the Curtis Winstons, the 16-year-old newlyweds who took a 3,000-mile elopement trip.

They landed at LaGuardia field in New York to be met by one parent each. They all drove here together—and then the bridegroom went home with papa and the bride went to her home.

Herbert Winston, the smiling father of the bridegroom, had nothing to say to the couple when they stepped off the plane.

But the bride, Charlotte, dashed down the ramp and into the arms of her smiling mother, Mrs. Thomas W. Cooke.

The teenagers started out in a car on a double date Aug. 10 and wound up in Mexico with the other pair, Cynthia Roberts and David Bruen, both 17. Once there, they all got married.

The Bruens boarded a bus Monday in Houston, Tex., for a 51-hour trip home. The Winstons flew in from Fort Worth.

What happens now is anybody's guess.

Mrs. Cooke said of her daughter's marriage that "we'll have to hash it out among us, and I hope at a level that will be fair to the children and ourselves."

Humphrey May Try To Subpoena Ag Chief Benson

WASHINGTON (INS)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) said Monday he may try to subpoena Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson to force him to appear before congressional committees.

Humphrey charged in a Senate speech that Benson has refused to appear before any congressional committees for the remainder of the current session.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) termed this "surprising, alarming, arrogant and uncalled for," and said he could not recall "when a cabinet member has defied Congress in such a manner."

Humphrey said he has been trying to get Benson to testify before his Government Reorganization subcommittee to clear up charges that the secretary has interfered with the lending authority of the Rural Electrification Administration.

The senator said, however, that he was unable to get any response to his invitation to Benson for some 50 days while the cabinet member was on a western trip.

Check Put On Atoms Donations

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Monday adopted a compromise bill putting a congressional check on U. S. contributions to the international atoms for peace program.

The Senate action, by voice vote, came minutes after House members of a joint conference committee dropped their demands that no limitation be placed on U. S. participation in the International Atomic Energy Agency.

The House had refused to go along with a Senate amendment by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) that would require congressional approval of any U. S. contributions above a certain level. The bill itself implements participation by this country in the atoms for peace program originally proposed by President Eisenhower.

Members of the conference committee predicted the House would not reject the amendment a second time.

No Approval

The Bricker amendment would limit contributions without approval by Congress to those amounts of nuclear material previously promised by Eisenhower.

That includes 5,000 kilograms donated to the international agency and matching of any amount contributed by another country. The amendment sets a deadline of 1960 for such contributions.

The conference committee added a provision that Congress could extend the deadline past 1960. It also broadened provisions of the Bricker amendment to limit contributions other than to the international agency. That could include Euratom, the European Atomic Community.

Sen. Anderson (D-NM) told the Senate the action would "eliminate discrimination" against the atoms-for-peace program.

Weather Ahead

Extended forecast for Nebraska:

Temperatures will average 3 to 5 degrees above normal over the western portion and 1 to 3 above in the eastern portion during the remainder of this week, with a slow rising trend. Normal highs range from the middle 90s in the northern portion to the upper 80s in the south-central, and normal lows from the middle 50s in the Panhandle to the low to middle 60s in the southeast. Rainfall is expected to average less than .15 of an inch, occurring as widely scattered afternoon and evening thundershowers.

Guard To Open First OCS In History At Ashland Saturday

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

The first officers candidate school in the history of the Nebraska National Guard will get underway Saturday at Camp Ashland when some 40 enlisted men start two weeks of highly intensive training.

The Nebraska program will be under the overall direction of Col. Hobbs Turner, acting for Maj. Gen. Guy N. Henninger.

Col. Burl M. Johnson, National Guard officer in charge of the academic program, said officers candidate schools have been "pioneered" in some six states during the past few years, but that 1957 marks the first national authorization of the program which will be carried on by about 30 states.

He said there has been a "continuing problem" in finding replacements for officers and cited the 15 per cent turnover each year in Nebraska's complement of 340 officers.

Correspondence Courses

Correspondence programs have been the basis for advancement from the ranks previously, Col. Johnson stated, adding that they have not been satisfactory because the men eventually have to go to a service school and usually have not had sufficient training to make the grade.

Each of the men commissioned at the end of their year-long training will be eligible to fill a vacancy in his company if such exists. If no vacancy exists at that time, the cadet will be given a diploma entitling him to fill the vacancy when it occurs or enabling him to fill a vacancy in any other Guard unit in the country.

Requirements for the cadets attending the school are that they must be not less than 20½, nor more than 26½ years of age; must have two years of Guard service or a comparable combination of Guard and active service, and must pass mental and physical tests.

In the year ahead, the cadets must complete 227 academic hours covering 22 major subjects.

One hundred of these hours will be crammed into the two-week session at Camp Ashland, and subsequent study will come in two-day sessions which will be held once each month for a period of nine months.

The post-camp sessions will be held at the National Guard Arsenal Building at the State Fair Grounds in Lincoln.

Col. Johnson said the cadets will start their days at camp at 5 a.m. with a physical training program scheduled from 6 to 6:45 a.m.

7 a.m. to 10 p.m.

A character guidance program with the chaplain will start at 7, with academic studies getting underway at 8 a.m. and continuing to 4:30 p.m. After retreat and "chow," the cadets go into another three-hour academic session with the end of the day finally arriving at 10 p.m.

This rugged schedule continues Monday through Friday, with an "easier" lineup on Saturday when classes are over at 2 p.m., and Sunday with classes from 1 to 5 p.m.

Col. Johnson said the nine week-end sessions which will follow the two weeks at Camp Ashland will start at noon on Saturday and continue to 4 p.m. Sunday.

He said the program is on a volunteer basis with the cadets being reimbursed for only part of their time spent in training.

The chief appropriation, which consists of a "few hundred dollars out of the Nebraska Military Department," will go to provide meals for the cadets and instructors.

A total of 50 officers from all over the state will instruct the cadets during the two-week program.

Graveside services for Harry B. Roy, 90, of Scottsbluff, will be 9 a.m. Wednesday at Calvary Cemetery. Msgr. A. J. Kraemer will officiate.

Mr. Roy, who died Sunday, moved from Lincoln to Scottsbluff 10 years ago. He was a retired salesman for the Weyerhaeuser Lumber Mills of Oregon.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Josephine Jones of Alamogosa, Colo., Mrs. Mary Scharf of Omaha and Mrs. Patricia Pesek of Scottsbluff, and 10 grandchildren.

Talks Concluded

CAIRO — President Nasser and Greek Premier Constantine Karamanlis concluded their talks. A joint statement said they "reviewed the international situation and particularly that of neighboring areas to both Greece and Egypt."

Another 'Lion' Report Received

Another report of a mysterious lion-like animal prowling in the Lincoln area was received by the County Sheriff's Office.

Richard Stapleton of 2001 T reported he spotted an animal about seven feet in length with brown fur while driving about six miles north of Lincoln on 27th St. He said the animal was definitely not a dog.

Earlier reports of such an animal were climaxed recently with a fruitless lion hunt north of Lincoln.

Dedicating Gavins Point

Old Mother Nature chose one of her better August days for the dedication of Gavins Point Dam on the Missouri, a dedication attended by thousands of Nebraskans, South Dakotans and Iowans.

It is not necessary for one to attach a great deal of significance to symbolism of the day on which dedication ceremonies are conducted to recognize the effect Gavins Point—and even more, the larger dams—Oahe, Garrison and Ft. Randall—will have on the future of the central Missouri Basin and the people living there. Those dams promise a bright future. Those dams will contribute a great deal to a better life. It is not merely a matter of producing electricity, or conserving water in a region where conservation of water is so everlastingly important. It is not simply the question of an expanding irrigation in a region where irrigation can mean the difference between a harvest or a crop failure.

Gavins Point and the waters back of the dam, waters which have been piling up since 1955, seem to fit into what should be the ultimate scheme of things in a country of unlimited promise. From the dam at Gavins Point to Ft. Peck is a distance of 1,500 miles. Man has built himself a chain of lakes that distance in length—clear white lakes in summer and winter to control a stream which always has been turbulent and unruly, to store more than 52 million acre-feet of water, to provide for irrigation and to contribute to the generation of cheap electricity, and finally to furnish the final decoration for the green valley of a mighty stream.

That is the way Old Mother Nature would have it, we are quite sure.

And that is the way she has it, with man's design and labors.

Seaton Not Satisfied

The Federal Power Commission recently directed a 27 per cent increase in wholesale electric rates chargeable to rural electric co-operatives and other preference customers of the Southwest Power Commission.

Just to tighten that in and take the "so what" out of it the decision went a step further to order that no such increase would apply to the two customers of Southwest Power. They were the Reynolds Aluminum Corporation, a private industry, and Arkansas Power, a private utility.

In short it appears in the opinion of the FPC that if Southwest Power must have more income let the farmers who are unAmerican enough to patronize public power pay it.

We are glad to report that Nebraska's Fred Seaton, secretary of Interior, does not see eye to eye with the FPC. As he made the case for the rate hike it was one in which Reynolds and Arkansas Power should share the load along with the REA's. There may be more to the FPC's dissenting view that meets the eye but it is expected that Secretary Seaton will not let it drop here. More power to him.

If the FPC stands by its guns it is estimated that the two private users of Southwest Power will be spared some $22 million in electric costs—another way of saying that if they do not have to accept that load the REA's will have to shoulder it.

Southwest Power does business several hundred miles beyond the frontiers and interests of Nebraska but that does not minimize the importance of what is going on down there. As the nation's only wholly public power state its interests in the position and welfare of public power anywhere is germane to the economic climate in which we must live.

A Man To Know Better

Were it not for the fact that a Star staff man slipped a pencil and note pad in his pocket and used up the greater part of a free weekend to go to Macy, Nebraska, readers would have been less well informed about the ninetieth annual Pow Wow of the Omaha Indians.

And if he hadn't gone, there wouldn't have been such a general demand to know more about this Alfred W. Gilpin, chief of the tribe, chairman of the Tribal Council and, if the evidence is all in, just about the best, the wisest and most successful public official currently in the state. Mr. Gilpin who presided over the Pow Wow was attired in white shirt, tie and well-fitted slacks. But he was just as much of a Red man as the reddest of lesser chiefs who sat with him in their colorful silks and feathers in council meetings and ceremonies. It was a function that was conducted several cuts in the deck, in terms of dignity, above what is sometimes seen in the more ornate capital of the state. The Nebraska congressional delegation, had it been able to attend, could have picked up a few beneficial pointers on bearing and good works.

Which reminds that Nebraska's Red men are currently initiating a "We Shake Hands" project which is short for saying that they are ready, able and willing to share fully intercommunication and civic responsibility with their white brethren. They are a people of sovereign heritage with a culture quite their own. They are original to this Middle-western land. It is good to know that in their reasoning and studied judgment isolation ought to be relegated to the place where all impractical ideas must sooner or later go. The rest of us may have not quite reached that point either locally or internationally. But the Redman is coming forward with gifts—co-operation and the secret of good tribal rule.

We can use both. This is a mighty fine time to start.

Age Gets The Breaks

This is to cheer up that innumerable throng of persons who, having just had their sixtieth birthday, automatically turn to that dismayed subject of how many more years they have left. Most of them figure they won't be around much longer.

The trouble with those people is that they don't know how to read the mortality tables the insurance companies live by. They are getting average life expectancy mixed up with individual life expectancy and they do not know that the longer one lives the longer he can expect to live—that is, up to reasonable point.

The 1957 Insurance Fact Book today expects the average new born baby to live 68.07 years. But it gives today's 60-year-old another 17.04 years—a life, in all almost 9 years longer than the baby. He is even better off if he has had his 70th birthday. He can count on 10.92 more years, that is, he can count on living to be virtually 81. And if he makes 81, he gets another 5.97 years.

Those heartening figures ought to put a stop to the middle-aged person's reluctance to be joyous over another birthday. Just the fact that he is in good enough shape to make it brings a present from nature—a little package of extra years. Even when he gets to be 109 he is on the bonus list—good for another 1.29 years. After that we can't say. The insurance people went out to lunch at that juncture, probably induced to do so by the annuity department which could not bear to think of how much it would lose on a non-cooperating individual who is more than living up the profits.

FBI Chief Active For Jencks Reversal

WASHINGTON — J. Edgar Hoover has been putting the heat on both houses of Congress to pass the FBI bill to reverse the Supreme Court in the Jencks case. He has almost made it a personal issue as between him and the highest court in the United States.

This is the second time Mr. Hoover has stepped out of his non-political role as an efficient, quiet FBI chief; the previous time having been his public political appearance with Attorney General Brownell to smear ex-President Truman in the Harry Dexter White case.

Many Washington observers have wondered why Hoover took this sudden jump into the political arena on the side of Mr. Brownell. As explained by his close friends, here is the answer:

During the war, Hoover had placed agents with every American embassy abroad. They had done a good job. And after the war, Hoover wanted to build up a super-spy organization to operate all over the world.

He had already had some brushes with Gen. William Donovan's OSS, which during the war was in charge of international espionage. So, when President Truman decided to consolidate overseas operations and replace the OSS with the new Central Intelligence Agency, Hoover went to the White House to plead that CIA be put under him.

Truman considered this too much police power for one man, and limited the FBI generally to the United States. He told Hoover he was doing a good job here at home and to stick to his domestic knitting.

This upset the FBI chief.

PROTECTING THE PRESIDENT

On top of this, Hoover wanted to take over the secret service and its job of guarding the president. This was encouraged by Truman's close friend, Gen. Harry Vaughan. Hoover had assigned a special agent to Vaughan's office and investigated certain people Vaughan wanted investigated, which in some cases was playing politics—Democratic politics.

General Vaughan in turn did his best to persuade Truman to use the FBI instead of the secret service, and J. Edgar even got the House Appropriations Committee to earmark $25,000 for the FBI to protect the President.

But Truman stopped this cold. He got on the telephone to Vice President Barkley and told him he wanted the FBI kept away from the job of protecting the President. At Truman's request, Barkley blocked the FBI appropriation.

After these two rebuffs, Hoover developed a cold hatred for Harry Truman. From that time on, he never set foot inside Truman's office.

Normally, Hoover is too shrewd to take sides in a political wrangle. (Copyright 1957 By Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

MARQUIS CHILDS

Interest Conflict Haunts Capital

WASHINGTON — The likelihood of a congressional investigation into a new possible conflict-of-interest case should, if the inquiry is followed through, put in sharp perspective the troubles of the Eisenhower administration in finding men to fill government positions.

The latest question of conflict of interest, into which at least one congressional committee is already examining, involves the businessman who goes into government and out again while, during his government service, he has jurisdiction over matters directly related to his business.

Can he be disinterested in passing on these matters as a government servant? Or is it the concept of the present administration that he is put into office so that he may look for those same interests?

In April of 1953 Felix E. Wormser became assistant secretary of Interior in charge of mineral affairs. He resigned as vice president of the St. Joseph Lead Company and president of the Lead Industries Association to take the post. Wormser told the committee passing on his confirmation he had sold his stock in the St. Joseph company, which produces about one-third of all the lead in this country.

Not long before Wormser resigned on June 15 to return to the company as vice president, the Department of Interior made grants to his company of $345,185. Wormser says he knew nothing of these grants, which were made by the Defense Minerals Exploration Administration in Interior.

But he had testified under questioning by Senator Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash) at the time of his confirmation that his responsibility would include the Minerals Exploration Administration. And he had added with considerable emphasis that his company had never received a penny in grants from the government.

Jackson, who is urging an investigation, wants to know why federal funds should go to develop further mineral resources when witnesses from the Interior Department have testified to a "world over-supply." This testimony was in support of the excise tax on imports of lead and zinc—in reality a tariff increase—recommended in a long-range minerals plan credited to Wormser and sent to Congress shortly before he resigned.

Representative Frank Karsten (D-Mo) has called on secretary of Interior Fred Seaton to reconcile these apparently conflicting positions—a subsidy for more production at the same time the argument is made for a wall to keep out foreign imports forcing down the domestic price. The lead-zinc lobby is putting on a strenuous last-minute drive to put over the excise tax before Congress adjourns.

Conflict of interest has arisen again and again to plague this administration. There were many who felt it was an injustice that Charles E. Wilson should be required to sell his stock in General Motors, of which he had been president, when he was confirmed as secretary of defense. Others thought it was an outrage that he should even contemplate keeping it when General Motors was the Defense Department's largest suppliers with contracts running to hundreds of millions of dollars a year.

Operation Without Usual Anesthetic

NEW YORK — "This is the first time I've ever been operated on without an anesthetic," Secretary of the Navy Tom Gates said to a friend in the wake of a recent snafu over the announced closing of a naval hospital.

Gates, one of the smartest, best-natured and courteous men on the Eisenhower team, was widely accused lately of being "rude" and "arrogant" to a delegation of Californians who converged on San Diego to discuss with him the scheduled closing December 31 of the 750 bed Corona (Calif.) naval hospital. It was charged that he brushed them off with a handshake or two and disappeared "in the midst of a swarm of rear admirals."

Actually, Gates was never told he was expected to meet with the group. Congressman Dalip Saund, who later joined in roasting Gates for snubbing the group, was a guest aboard Gates' plane. Not once during the 3,000-mile flight from Washington did Saund mention that he had alerted his people about a meeting with the secretary.

Gates had just undergone a press conference in which he explained why the hospital and many other drains on the Navy's appropriation dollar had to be lopped off, when—upon leaving for his next appointment—Saund asked him to say hello to a group. There was still no mention of a meeting. Gates shook hands all around, posed for several pictures, bid them a cordial farewell, and went on about his business.

He was not aware until the next day that after a talk with Saund, the group had become embittered enough to issue blasts at the secretary and threats of repercussions at the polls.

When it was time for the Gates plane to start its flight back to Washington, Saund and Mrs. Saund stepped aboard as if nothing had happened. Saund had said there will be an "investigation" of the closing of the hospital.

Teapot tempest? Perhaps, but it is a sample of the pain and ruffled political feelings that attending. The secretaries of the tend any shrinkage in federal several branches of the armed forces, for example, are the likely targets of any vote-conscious congressman whose district has been affected by a cut-back.

The Corona Naval Hospital is a peace casualty, and the area can no longer count on income from the hospital's doctors, nurses and patients. The Navy says there will be no hardships, medically speaking. There are still hospitals at San Diego and Pendleton, as well as hospital ships at Long Beach.

The moon is on the wane all of this week. Today and through the night it completes its transit through the flexed, airy and barren sign, Gemini, moving into the movable, watery and exceedingly fruitful sign, Cancer, early to morrow morning. For the next two days it will be moving through Cancer, then early Friday morning it will enter the fixed, fiery and exceedingly barren sign, Leo. At 2:25 a.m. Sunday morning it will enter the flexed, dry and earthy sign, Virgo, and at 3:31 a.m. Sunday we shall have a brand new moon. Early next Tuesday morning August's new moon will enter the movable, airy and semi-fruitful sign, Libra.

Mrs. Swingle

August and late summer always bring blooms on many interesting and fragrant vine and perennial. Clematis virginiana is spilling its panicles of creamy-white three-fourths inch blooms along the north fence in our kitchen garden and honey bees gather nectar all the daylight hours. This variety is as American as apple pie, growing wild all through the eastern states, coming into bloom in early August and continuing until October, and my family always called it "Virgin's Bower." C. missouriensis, which grows wild in woody places in Missouri and southeastern Nebraska is a close relative of C. virginiana, the difference being in the foliage: it is hairy underneath and there are usually five leaflets. C. virginiana has three leaflets usually. The flowers seem identical.

Clematis paniculata, from Japan, has very fragrant one and one-half inch white flowers in panicles in September and October. Climbs to 30 feet leaflets in threes and fives. The flowers have the same form as C. missouriensis and C. virginiana, except they are larger and more fragrant.

I have never seen C. tangutica growing in Lincoln, have you? It is native to northern China (Mongolia), has dark green cutleaf foliage and bright yellow bells in June and again in the autumn. Like the three varieties I have just described, it dies down each winter, then grows rampantly the next year. Catalogues list it as "golden flowered clematis" and hardy in our climate.

Pictured today we have Hosta, plantaginea (Funkia grandiflora), the largest flowered of all the Plantain lilies, the most fragrant of all and the one and only variety having pure waxy-white flowers and large, corded and shiny yellow-green leaves. This handsomest of all the Hostas is an August bloomer and came into bloom out here in our garden on Lucust Lane one day last week. Next month will bloom Hosta lancifolia, with slender lance-like foliage and pale lavender flowers on tall scapes. The latest to bloom of all our Hostas and native to Japan, it has been in cultivation here in the United States for generations.

The People Speak

Action Now

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: It is beyond all comprehension how our city council can sit idly by and listen to the plea of our able park department for sufficient funds for the proper defense of our elms. Such inaction and apparent unconcern is inexcusable.

These trees are as great an asset as our streets and while we can build streets in a month it takes from 10 to 50 years to produce these fine elms.

One only need to drive around our city and note the trees already dead if they wish to be convinced of the seriousness of the situation.

This condition, I believe is of such importance that a paper like yours should champion its cause with real vigor—not just a few articles describing the Dutch Elm disease. You didn't alibi for the council or the directors on the water matter and you shouldn't on this.

We need action now.

CITIZEN

What To Believe

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: These are trying times.

Even after one says his prayers at night it is often difficult to crowd out the fears of catastrophe blotting out existence by morning.

Every day headline articles warn us of the imminent dangers of the Communists gobbling us up. Every other day our sainted President warns us that if he doesn't get his way he cannot guarantee our security.

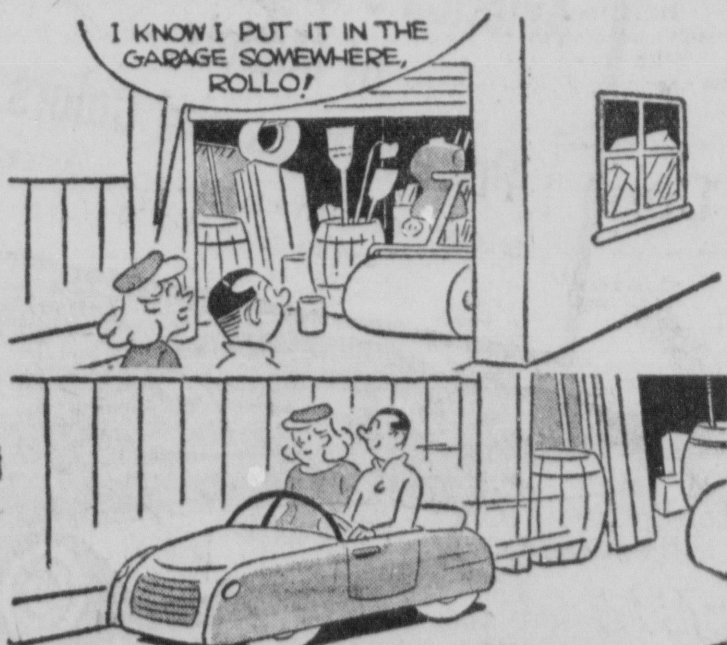

Last week, we were told, out of the blue, that we were at quasi war with Red China. Now Mr. Eisenhower threatens to call a special session of Congress (and they used to talk of the infamous threats of Roosevelt and Truman) is the "reckless representatives of the people in Congress" didn't meet his demands on Foreign Aid.

All of this, coupled with the ever-present danger of being ganged up on by teen age delinquents . . . the horrors of tornadoes . . . the chance of drunks or drivers of big trucks murdering one on the highways . . . and now the perils of another sinister force—Asiatic Flu. There just isn't any rest for the wicked . . . or the innocent.

Tired Of Shelling Out

Ike moved into the White House, he had only to ask for foreign aid and it was given. The fiction or truth relative to the fight for a durable peace did not seem to bother too many people. We might groan a bit at the size of the bill, and at the same time wonder if so many millions were needed, but everything seemed to be moving along without too much disturbance and for most Americans it was a case of come easy and go easy. We know now that that freedom of financing a costly foreign aid program no longer seems open to us. It is becoming a greater load each year and regardless of the party in power or the man who happens to be President, it will rest increasingly heavily next year and the year that follows.

We are still the richest nation in the world. We still have the best of it. We still serve as the stabilizing force. We still are recognized throughout the world for the leadership we exert. But it appears today that we have concluded we've gone about as far as we can on foreign aid and from here on out, peoples who have been depending on it must depend more upon themselves.

Security Structure Endangered -- Dulles

AID FUND SLASH IS DEPLORED

... BY SECRETARY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration made new and major efforts Monday to save its foreign aid program from the $809,650,000 cut voted by the House.

Secretary of State Dulles told the Senate Appropriations Committee that the House cut threatens "the whole foundation of our security structure."

President Eisenhower went to the unusual length of calling in House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) and asking him for help.

"I told him," Rayburn reported to newsmen, "that if the Senate added on something, and if I'm convinced it's necessary, then I'd help."

Dulles and other administration leaders made "a very excellent case," Chairman Hayden (D-Ariz.) of the Appropriations Committee said. But he declined to speculate on what the committee will do.

Bows To Experts

Sen. Pastore (D-R.I.) commented that where "the national security is involved, I'm inclined to resolve any doubts in support of the opinion of the experts."

Sens. Saltonstall (R-Mass.) and Holland (D-Fla.) said the administration made out "a good case" and they were ready to vote some restorations.

Sen. Robertson (D-Va.) said, however, that "as of the present, I am inclined to support the House bill."

The administration admittedly faces trouble in getting the Senate to vote all of the $3,367,000,000 which has been authorized in new money for the year which began July 1.

And if the Senate should vote to restore all or part of the amount the House slashed below that figure, there was no assurance that the house would go along.

Public Hearing Set For Heavy Vehicle Rules

A public hearing on new department rules and regulations relating to movement of vehicles which exceed the weight and measurement limitations imposed by law was called Monday by the State Highway Department for Aug. 23 in Lincoln.

A bill passed by the last Legislature, LB 488, increased from 12½ to 13½ feet the legal height of motor vehicles and otherwise revised the law dealing with over-limit vehicles.

The Highway Department now must revise its rules to conform to the new law, which takes effect Sept. 20.

State Engineer L. N. Riss said the proposed rules and regulations would:

1. Provide which objects, vehicles or combinations of vehicles, exceeding the weight, height, width and length limitations imposed by law, may be moved over the highways under the Highway Department's jurisdiction.
2. Provide for the issuance of single trip permits or continuous operation permits for certain movements.
3. Provide for fees for such permits.

WWI Veterans Commission Unit Of 50 Omahans

Barracks No. 1005 of the Veterans of World War I of the United States was officially commissioned in Omaha recently by John Erickson of Minneapolis, Minn., national regional vice-commander. About 50 Omahans joined the 300 thousand member national group.

The Omaha barracks is the fourth in the state to be commissioned. The national organization seeks a $100-a-month pension for WWI veterans.

Louis Stroud of Lincoln is a national deputy in the organization and Joe Schneider is Lincoln barracks commander. Both men will represent the Lincoln barracks at the coming national convention.

Priest Accused Of Killing His Bishop Excommunicated

RECIFE, Brazil (AP) — A formal order excommunicating the Rev. Hosana Siqueiros and degrading him from the priesthood was read to the former Roman Catholic cleric in the cell where he is awaiting trial on charges of killing his bishop.

The order came from the Holy Office in Rome and was delivered by Canon Isidoro Fonseca. He said Siqueiros displayed no reaction.

The Most Rev. Expedito Lopes was shot last month after he suspended Siqueiros for bad conduct. The priest had demanded that the radio station at Garanhuns, some 125 miles inland from Recife, broadcast an attack on the bishop. The two had been on bad terms for several months.

Every Ford is ahead of its time!
Take this versatile 9-passenger Country Sedan. Its years-ahead styling... V-8 power... and skillful design have helped keep Ford first in station wagon sales.

Touch a button and it removes its steel top!
No latches to unlatch. No boot to bother with. Just pull a button and the steel top disappears magically into the trunk — and you're in a supremely elegant convertible. It's two cars in one!

The magic of the FORD SKYLINER is shared by every FORD

America's first Hide-Away Hardtop is the miracle car of this generation. It's the car that Detroit had said could never be built in volume. (But Ford engineers did it!) It's a car that lifts and stows away its own steel top at the touch of a button. (Yet it's roomier than a regular convertible... longer, too.) Most surprising of all, a comparison of manufacturers' suggested retail prices shows that only four "soft top" convertibles (including Ford) are priced less than a Skyliner!

Whether you select a Skyliner or some other Ford model, the fact that Ford created this car is important to you. For all the exhaustive research, planning and testing that went into the Skyliner is proof of the engineering and production leadership that goes into each car Ford builds. No wonder Fords are worth more when you buy them... worth more when you sell them, too!

In any model that catches your eye you'll discover that Ford engineers have surrounded the rugged "Inner Ford" with the year's most successful styling — sculptured-in-steel styling that will stay ahead in the years ahead. And the heart of the "Inner Ford" is its V-8 engine — built by engineers who have built more V-8's than all other car makers combined!

In creating the Skyliner, the year's most talked about car, Ford continues its tradition of being first with the important innovations. Come in and see this newest example of Ford leadership. Let us give you the exciting details on this revolutionary car — and the other dashing new models. Discover for yourself the things you get in a Ford that no other car can offer. Discover for yourself why America has bought more '57 Fords than any other car.

Number Of State School Districts Decreased By 264 In One Year

The number of school districts in Nebraska has been reduced by 264 since the start of school last year, bringing the total down to 4,694, the State Department of Education reported Monday.

On Sept. 1 last year, 4,958 districts were in existence.

Since 1949, when the legislature passed the School Reorganization Act, the number of school districts has been cut by 30.2 per cent—a reduction of 2,040 districts from the 6,734 in 1949.

The current 4,694 total does not include 26 class VI units offering high school education only. It does include 4,276 districts offering elementary schooling only, and 418 districts which provide both elementary and high school programs.

Of the 4,276 districts organized for grade school education only, 3,318 will operate their own schools during the coming school year; 925 will send their pupils to some other school under contract, and 33 will be doing neither.

Counties with the greatest reduction in the number of districts last year included Gosper County 43 per cent, Sarpy 33 per cent, Johnson 23 per cent, Hayes 21 per cent, and Box Bute 20 per cent.

Those counties showing no reduction between 1956 and 1957 include Antelope, Banner (which is a single district), Blaine, Boyd, Butler, Cedar, Dakota, Dodge, Douglas, Fillmore, Franklin, Garden, Grant, Hamilton, Hooker, (single district), Jefferson, Kearney, Keith, Kimball, Nuckolls, Phelps, Platte, Richardson, Rock, Saunders, Stanton, Thomas, Thurston, Wayne and Webster.

Seven counties have shown no reduction in total number of districts since 1949. These include Colfax, Dakota, Grant, Hooker (which has been a single district since before 1949), Stanton, Thurston and Wayne.

Delaplane's POSTCARD

The fall book list has reached me by the morning post. An imposing array of titles representing blood, sweat, toil and tears.

Some sort of national mania seems to afflict the public. Housewives put the diapers in the washer and sit down to whip up bosomy novels of palmer days.

Ad men, insurance salesmen, plumbers and unemployed glassworkers ache through acres of prose. A man may doubt his ability in his chosen profession. But he is firmly convinced he can write a book. He often does, too. More's the pity.

Well, this is true. Anyone can write a book. The test of character, however, is like giving up smoking. Can you get along without writing a book?

This is not as easy as it sounds. The urge to write a book comes on suddenly. Like smallpox. A man may be lazing it out through the summer days. He weeds the garden and cuffs the children.

One day he puts down the paper and remarks: "Holy smoke!" "What now?" says the lady of the house.

"I'm gonna write a book!" says the gentleman. "Come to me like a flash."

He retires to his study with a wad of paper and a pencil. And then the fun begins.

The household is now run on literary lines for the literary lion in his den.

The phone bell must be softened—a literary man cannot think with a bell jangling his tangled nerves. The children are shushed. "Daddy is writing a book," says the lady. "Shaddap!"

Overhead comes the sound of pacing back and forth. Mingled with cries resembling the death song of a Sioux Indian. Wads of used paper shoot out the open window and float like a snowstorm to the ground.

Madam picks these up curiously. For this is a curious affliction that has ravaged the household.

AVAST ALL HANDS by J. B. Snively

"Roderick O'Connor reached for his buskin and breast-plate with monumental calm, ignoring the trembling seaman who stood before him in the elegant after-cabin of the Incomprehensible, 44-gun ship-of-the-line.

"A Spanish fleet bearing down on us?" he said. "Pipe all hands to quarters, my man, and issue a lot of rum xxxxxX$!"

"Heavenly days," says the lady in admiration. "Your daddy's an author."

Ladies taking up novel writing are less explosive. A lady who begins to write a book does not change her way of life. She changes her dress.

She takes up peasant skirts and blouses and begins to wear glasses. She uses clear nail polish and carries the New Yorker. She invests in a station wagon and a large, shaggy dog.

A lady taking up the literary life reaches for the sheerest simplicity.

Her prose, on the other hand, is far from simple.

The novels written by ladies (according to my fall book list) are filled with complications:

"Seeking a love she was unable to find in a Hartford insurance office, Pamela Lovelock embarks on a Caribbean cruise ship where, at shuffleboard, she meets..."

As soon as the heroine is named Pamela, I know she is complicated. I know, also, things are going to get more complicated. For Pamela is a doll that could make pencil sharpening an emotional problem.

The nicest thing about all this is if you don't like to read books, you don't have to. Write one instead.

Pierce, Pioneer, Blind Two Years, Regaining Sight

PIERCE, Neb.—Mrs. Amanda Saeger, 86, pioneer resident of Pierce, is enjoying the experience of regaining her sight.

Her eyesight began to dim about five years ago due to the formation of cataracts on her eyes. For the past two years she has been unable to see. Her pastimes have included listening to the radio and visiting her children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

About three weeks ago she submitted to surgery and her sight is becoming clearer each day.

Teamsters V.P. Takes 'Phonies' Responsibility

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Einar O. Mohn of the Teamsters Union took full responsibility Monday for issuing charters to seven New York locals described by senators as hoodlum-led phonies.

But Mohn said the idea originated with James R. Hoffa, another Teamster vice president who has become a central figure in the Senate investigation of the union.

Mohn said he was unaware of the locals' racketeer leadership, and okayed the charters as a routine thing.

Chairman McClellan of the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee has charged that the seven locals were used by Hoffa, Teamster boss in the Midwest, in a way calculated to extend his influence to New York.

The locals' votes helped defeat Martin Lacey as president of the New York Teamster Council 16, and replace him with John O'Rourke, a Hoffa man.

Each local was entitled to cast seven votes. There has been testimony that persons who had no connection with the union were listed as their delegates to the council.

Hoffa, who is expected to appear before the rackets probes Tuesday, is now favored to become president of the Teamsters International Union, replacing Dave Beck.

Mohn was the first witness called at Monday's session and he occupied the stand most of the afternoon, although the committee previously had announced plans to summon an unidentified witness ahead of him. The only other witness heard was Teresa Hanlon, a clerk in the Teamsters headquarters office, who followed Mohn.

Committee aides declined to say why the unidentified witness, who had been described over the weekend as important, was not called. They still refused to identify him and said he would not be asked to testify the present phase of the hearings, due to end this week.

Electrical Work Regulation, Inspection Ordinance Changed

By NANCY BENJAMIN
Star Staff Writer

An ordinance revising the city's control over regulation and inspection of electrical work received unanimous approval from the City Council at its introduction Monday. The new ordinance might bring an annual $30,000 income to the city, according to estimates by electrical contractors.

Major changes over the old ordinance include the payment of inspection fees, of an annual registration fee of $50 and an examination fee of $5. The fee is now $1.

The ordinance would allow firms, as well as individuals, to receive an "electrician" rating, if one member of the firm had passed the Board examination.

The proposed law would require a permit for most electrical work including some regulation for temporary installations.

Appeal Board

A Board of Appeal including the City Attorney, a representative of the Underwriters Inspection Bureau, an architect, an electrical contractor and a representative of the public power district, under the new legislation will have authority to review appeals against rulings by the city's electrical inspector. Under the new ordinance the "apprentice" rating would be deleted.

The ordinance was drawn up after discussion with electrical contractors in the city who requested closer supervision of standards of electrical work.

Deed Accepted

In other decisions, the Council voted to accept the deed and contract from Sanitary District 1 giving the city the responsibility of taking over sanitary sewer work in the city and control of the city sewage disposal plant.

Claims of $25 by John Bloom of 633 Elmwood for damages during a tow-in on July 12, and of $5 by Joseph Malec of Omaha for damage during tow-in on June 20 were approved Monday.

Mayor Bennett Martin stated that the matter of city liability in such cases would be checked into after Pace reported that claims of this sort "could be serious" if no attempt was made to verify the cause of the damage. Pace said these were the first claims under the year-old ordinance.

The Council also followed Director Junge's recommendation that all bids on the Muni Gas Station addition be rejected because all were appreciably above the city estimate of $5,400. The proposed addition is for trucks and a grease rack.

Disapproved was a request by Lincoln General Hospital Administrator Herbert Anderson for signs on 10 Lincoln Street corners pointing the direction to the hospital.

Three resolutions were approved to build sidewalks on the east side of 38th from South to Van Dorn, on the west side of 63rd from Huntington to Leighton, and on the east side of 48th from Van Dorn to Hillside. All three sidewalk areas were requested by School Board officials for better access to schools in the areas.

Fred Wells, chairman of the city traffic commission, was approved as the city's representative to the Aug. 30-Sept. 1 off-street parking conference to be held at Milwaukee, Wis.

On a resolution by Councilman Hugh Thorne the Council voted unanimously to pay one-third of the cost of a restudy of the flood control measures necessary on Antelope Creek by Alvord, Burdick and Houson of Chicago. Sanitary District 1 board has also approved its one-third share of the study, and action by the County Commissioners is expected this week.

Adjustments Approved

Councilmen approved two Board of Adjustment recommendations, one allowing waiver of back yard requirements by Phi Kappa Psi fraternity, 16th and S, in building an addition; and allowing construction of a driveway by David H. Mickey of 6741 Colby.

Two other Board recommendations approved resulted in denial of zoning waivers to Mrs. Lulu E. Strange to repair a flood-damaged building not conforming to city zoning, and denial of permission to Milton Schmidt to build an addition to a non-conforming building at 2427 D.

At public hearings Monday afternoon, Attorney Leo Bartunek praised the Mayor and City Council for "finding a method to relieve some of the burden from the city property owner."

Tax On Horse Racing

Congratulating the Council for enacting an occupation tax Bartunek proposed that a city occupation tax be levied against horse racing at the State Fair Grounds.

When Mayor Martin explained that the city had no jurisdiction over property not in the city limits, Bartunek suggested to the Council that the Fair Grounds property be annexed.

In other action, the Council approved the following ordinances:

First Reading

Annual appropriation ordinance for 1957, fiscal year beginning September 1 and requiring a 14.8 mill levy.

Creation of a paving district on Aylesworth Ave. between 38th and 60th.

Creation of a paving district on 32nd between Potter and Doane.

Final Passage

Increase of service charges from $30 to $35 at Fairview Cemetery, with $15 additional fee for Saturday afternoon and Sunday interment.

Plating of Happy Hollow Addition from 54th to 56th, between S and Vine.

Inclusion of South St. Gut. abutting property) from 62nd to 66th within city limits.

Inclusion of 40 acres of Bankers Life addition and adjoining East O into city limits.

Change of zoning of P between 20th and 21st to "light industrial."

Change of zoning from West O "and Corridor" to three-mile limit to "heavy commercial."

Change of zoning at 33rd and Adams to "heavy commercial."

Change in ordinance requiring marquees, canopies and fixed awnings with attached signs to be above 8-foot level from sidewalk.

The Council unanimously killed an ordinance up for final passage for the zoning of a residence at 53rd and Normal from single-family to two-family zoning.

All six City Council members were present at the Monday sessions and on the tour of the city dump and Pioneers Golf Course.

Senate Voice Vote Passes Catch-All Military Fund Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Monday night passed by voice vote a $1,824,000,000 supplemental money bill. Over $1,620,000,000 of the total is for military public works at bases in this country and around the world.

As passed previously by the House, the catch-all appropriation bill totaled $1,581,590,000. While the Senate increased this figure it still fell short of President Eisenhower's budget recommendations by nearly 150 million dollars. The difference between Senate and House versions will have to be adjusted in conference.

The bill contains $249,000 for the Sioux Ordnance Plant, Sidney, Neb., $37,000 for land acquisition at the Lincoln Air Base, and $7,681,000 for Offutt Air Base, Omaha. These Nebraska items were also included in the House version.

Pretty Personality • Brownie Sandwiches • School Days
New Shrimp Salad • Cake Trick • Nice Rice

You're Prettier Than You Think You Are!

A morale-building message, indeed, from an authority on both beauty and psychology. The lady you see in your mirror usually isn't smiling — and she isn't talking either! Actually, your personality shows on your face, when you're with others . . . and there's a glow that you just can't see in your own glass! Of course, it behooves you to keep that face as young and well-groomed as possible . . . but your personality does more for your beauty than lipstick.

Dusty House Plants

Soot and dirt may be washed off leaves so plants can "breathe". Dip 'em in tepid soap suds, then rinse well. If it's a delicate plant, put the soap suds in an atomizer and spray. Repeat process twice for rinse water. And don't dry plants in the sunshine!

Around the Corner

. . . School days! Gracious, didn't the Summer go quickly? With the opening of school comes the re-opening of home schedules. Breakfasts on time, baths on time, closets bursting with clean clothes. All these require lots of hot water! If your present water heater keeps you waiting, it can throw your well-planned schedules into a turmoil. A new automatic gas water heater saves nerves as well as time . . . and you'll find it easy to own one with ample capacity for your family's hot water needs. Talk things over with your local gas company or plumber dealer.

Crunchy Quickies

Theresa Hill of Robbinsdale, Minn., suggests you spread packaged-mix Brownie batter in a large, flat pan, sprinkle it with nuts, and bake till crisp. When it's cool cut it in squares. Top half the squares with slices of ice cream and put remaining squares on top, sandwich style.

Shrimp Cooler

Perfect for a ladies' luncheon, says Mrs. Norbert Schumer of Elsie, Nebraska! Dissolve lemon gelatin in water as per package instructions, but leave out 3 tsp. water and substitute 3 tsp. vinegar. When gelatin becomes syrupy, add 1 tsp. grated onion, 1 can drained, cleaned shrimp, 1/2 tsp. salt, 3 sliced hard-boiled eggs, half a green pepper chopped fine, and 6 chopped olives. Pour into mold, let set in your gas refrigerator. Serve your pretty salad on crisp lettuce leaves.

Gas Is a "Natural"

Discovered almost a thousand years before the beginning of Christianity, natural gas is yet a "modern" miracle! There are more uses for natural gas in your home today than ever before . . . from cooking and refrigeration to temperature control, each use makes gas a miracle of ease and comfort for you. The Northern Natural Gas Company brings it to your home town . . . and your local gas company brings it to you. Use it . . . benefit from it. Gas costs less — and does so much!

Quick Cake

A second helpful hint from Theresa Hill: Bake packaged-mix white cake in a 13 x 9 pan. Sift instant cocoa on top and skip the frosting. (This would be extra-delicious with a scoop of chocolate chip ice cream, I'll bet.)

Round-Up Reminder

Your local gas company and gas appliance dealer want to corral your old stove! They can show you dozens of reasons for replacing it with a new gas range . . . and convenient ways to fit the new range into the range of your family budget.

Aromatic Rice

Next time you cook rice put a clove of garlic in the boiling water, then remove before serving. You won't taste the garlic, but it imparts a wonderful, delicate fragrance and just a hint of difference!

GM Charged In Excessive Plane Profit

WASHINGTON (INS) — Air Force negotiators said Monday a "miraculous" speed up of jet plane production enabled General Motors to make what the General Accounting Office called an "excessive" profit on a 375 million dollar contract.

The men who worked out the contract with the auto maker testified that GM representatives at the negotiating table were bitter because the Air Force had forced the per-plane price down too much for any profit.

However, chief negotiator Richard Saxton said that "by some ingenious experiences and a lot of good luck" the company "surpassed all previous estimates" and almost doubled daily production.

Saxton and other Air Force negotiators testified before a House

Armed Services subcommittee investigating the alleged "excessive" profit on the contract for building 599 F-84F Thunderstreak jet fighters.

In Stride

Subcommittee chairman F. Edward Hebert (D-La.) and Rep. Porter Hardy (D-Va.) questioned whether General Motors hadn't planned all along to accelerate production to the highest rate.

Hardy told Saxton that "I think they got in trouble a long time before you found out about it." He suggested that the company knew its overhead was going to be cut drastically by the speed up but did not change its overhead cost estimate.

The committee members complimented the negotiators for cutting GM's asking price from $288,000 per plane to $271,165 but Hebert added: "They walked in with the buying loaded and how much they could keep in the bag was to their advantage."

The subcommittee contends that GM submitted padded cost estimates to the Air Force during negotiations on part of the contract.

Poultry Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed and sent to the President a bill providing for federal inspection of poultry and poultry products similar to the present federal meat inspection program.

Congressional action was completed with Senate concurrence in a measure worked out by a Senate-House conference committee that adjusted differences between Senate and House bills. The House approved it last Friday.

$45,312 Taken 1 1/2 Years Given On Check Charge

HOBBS, N. M. (INS) — A lone gunman robbed a Hobbs, N. M., bank and escaped with $45,312.

Hobbs police said roadblocks were thrown up on highways leading out of town, and an air search for the armed robber was underway.

The robbery took place at a branch of the Lea County state bank located in a shopping center.

Leaves Hospital

The baby, who was born prematurely, remained at the hospital. Miss Taylor is the wife of Mike Todd, producer.

Mayer Cool Toward $50,000 Tour

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP)—Imagine being so loaded with dough that you turn thumbs down on $50,000. That's the enviable position of Dick Mayer, who a little more than a week ago added the $100,000 Tam O'Shanter "World's" golf title to the U.S. Open title he had won previously.

The handsome, blond stylist from St. Petersburg, Fla., received $50,000 in cash and an option to play 50 exhibitions at $1,000 a throw.

"I haven't decided whether to go through with that exhibition schedule or not," the Open champion said on a brief visit here Monday. "Any more money I make now goes to the government. What I could keep would be chicken feed."

"Mr. May (George S. May, sponsor of the Tam event) has given me until Sept. 1 to make up my mind. I may sign for a few exhibitions next year, but I feel certain I don't want to go through his full program."

Mayer, who a few months ago was so broke he started to quit the tour and had to borrow to keep going, said there were two reasons for this decision:

1. The money he could make—and keep—from such a tour would be negligible, once the tax bite was made.

2. He doesn't want to jeopardize his golf career by remaining off the circuit so long, getting fat on his prosperity and losing his edge.

Winning at Tam has been virtually suicide for many golfers. The best example is Bob Toski. A leading money-winner before he won the big pot of gold in 1954, the wiry New Jersey golfer has dropped from sight competitive ly.

Julius Boros (1952) and Lew Worsham (1953) haven't won a major tournament since their financial bonanza. Ted Kroll, who won a year ago, acknowledges he hasn't been able to recover his competitive edge.

Mayer had won $40,000 this year before his $50,000 windfall at Tam. This plus money received for endorsements, TV appearances, etc., have placed him in the 70 per cent income tax bracket. Every dollar he makes, Uncle Sam gets 70 cents.

"The May exhibitions are a bit rigorous," Mayer said. "You not only have to play golf but you have to make personal appearances and do other things."

"Personally, I'd like to set my own exhibition schedule, working it in between tournaments. As both Open and Tam champion, I should be able to get a good figure and the pressure is not as heavy."

GIANTS GO WEST

San Francisco Mayor Jubilant

Directors Vote 8-1 For Switch

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Mayor George Christopher, jubilant over the New York Giants' decision to come to San Francisco, declared Monday the move will transfuse between 25 and 40 million dollars a year into the city's economic system.

The mayor already had learned of the decision from newspapers when Horace Stoneham, owner of the National League baseball club telephoned from New York of approval by the Giants' board of directors.

"Hello, Horace, congratulations," the mayor shouted. "You've made a wise decision. All the people of San Francisco are certainly going to be happy to learn of this decision. We're going to work hard for you."

It was a moment of personal triumph for Christopher. He had worked tirelessly to bring major league baseball to San Francisco, opposed at times by pessimistic critics.

"No sir, I was never in doubt that the Giants would move here," he predicted. Los Angeles will be equally successful in its attempt to have the Brooklyn Dodgers move to the Coast.

The future status of the San Francisco Seals, currently leading the Pacific Coast League, has not been decided. Jerry Donovan, president of the Boston Red Sox farm said Monday there were as yet no plans for the future of the Seal franchise.

"All we're worried about at the moment," he said, "is trying to win a pennant. That is our only purpose. (The Seals now lead the PCL by three games.)"

"The Giant move is wonderful. The people of San Francisco are entitled to major league baseball,"

Donovan said he hadn't heard a thing from Boston about newspaper reports the Giants have offered the Red Sox $125,000 for the San Francisco franchise. Another proposal reported is that the Giants will swap their American Assn. franchise at Minneapolis to the Red Sox for San Francisco, even up.

Mayor Christopher said it was "too bad about the Seals, but baseball law will take care of that. Even though they may be pennant winners we are accustomed to having pennant winners and we can't let any temporary glory spoil our big purpose."

"Don't forget," he said, "we are also accustomed to having the Seals farther down in the league standings."

In Hollywood, Bob Cobb, president of the Pacific Coast League's Hollywood Stars said the move was "a step in the right direction."

"There's one thing I hope and pray," he said, "and that's that they build a stadium in San Francisco that they can point to with pride, one that will upgrade baseball."

ball, because that's what's needed."

Cobb said he was prepared to move his team if the Pacific Coast League is realigned.

At Los Angeles Mayor Norris G. Poulson said:

"I'd like to emphasize that the directors of the National League are on record favoring the shift of both the Giants and the Dodgers to the West Coast."

Mayor Poulson would not elaborate, but previously had expressed conviction the Dodgers would play their 1958 season as representatives of Los Angeles.

G-Sox Drop Chiefs, Lead Loop By 1 1/2

AMARILLO (AP)—Ken Yoke scattered 13 hits and John Goodell clouted an important two-run homer here Monday night as the Amarillo Gold Sox moved one and one-half games out in front of the Lincoln Chiefs with a 7-4 victory before 3,799 fans, including 875 ladies' night spectators.

The crafty Yoke was in serious trouble in the first inning when he allowed three runs and worked himself out of another jam in the seventh when the Chiefs loaded the bases. Yoke struck out Reggie Grenald to end the threat.

While posting his 16th victory, Yoke struck out three and walked the same number. He was helped along to victory by some fancy fielding and Goodell's long poke, which traveled an estimated 425 feet, with Al Pinkston aboard in the sixth.

The loser was George Perez, who replaced starter Bill Bell in the third inning. Perez entered the game with the score tied 3-3 and retired the next eight men in order before Pinkston opened the sixth with his third straight single.

After Don Hunter lifted softly to center, Goodell homered to give the Sox a 5-4 lead. Don Williams was called in to work one-third of an inning in the eighth and was treated roughly but managed to put out the fire with the bases loaded.

Referee Peity Della voted for Bell five rounds to four with one even. Judge Mike Davidowitch had Perez in front 7-3. Judge Leo Birnbaum had it even, 5-5 in rounds and 6-6 in points.

Perez, 24, using his seven-pound weight edge to good advantage, dominated the fight through the first five rounds. The Brooklynite scored with snappy left hooks to the body and head and hurt Bell with a jolting right to the jaw in the second round.

Bell, 25, favorite, put on the pressure in the closing rounds as Perez tired. Lulu held often.

Perez was cut over the left eye. A crowd of 1,073 paid $2,234.

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Giants officially decided Monday to become the San Francisco Giants. The Brooklyn Dodgers may follow the Giants to California next week.

The historic decision to move westward was made during a 2½ hour meeting when the Giants' board of directors voted 8 to 1 to shift the National League baseball franchise to San Francisco. The lone dissenter was M. Donald Grant, a minority stockholder.

The Dodgers, who have been given the green light by the league to move to Los Angeles, were expected to formalize their shift at a board meeting next week.

"It's all over, fellows," the perspiring and obviously relieved club president, Horace Stoneham, told a gathering of reporters and photographers in the Giants' offices as he emerged from the closed meeting.

"We've just voted on the west coast next year. That is providing the mayor of San Francisco fulfills all the conditions promised and he agrees to the name of the 'Giants' being retained."

Although approval of the board of directors was expected, the news of the Giants leaving came as a shock to veteran newsmen who have been covering the Giants for many years.

The club, an original member when the National League was formed in 1876, has represented New York City ever since with the exception of a six-year period from 1877 through 1882.

Stoneham, principal force in the drive westward, said he anticipated no difficulty. He revealed negotiations already were under way with Tom Yawkey, owner of the Boston Red Sox, for the Giants to acquire the San Francisco franchise as a forerunner to transferring the Giants to that city. The Red Sox currently operate the San Francisco club in the Pacific Coast League.

"Chub Feeney (Vice President Charles Feeney) was in Boston last Friday and talked with Joe Cronin (general manager of the Red Sox)," said Stoneham. "We made an offer for the club and are confident we'll come to an agreement very soon."

Horace said he planned to leave for San Francisco some time next week to take up the many matters which have to do with drafting the baseball territory from the Coast League. According to the rules of baseball, initiation for such a move is limited to the period from Oct. 1 through Oct. 31.

"We are perfectly willing to sit down with the Pacific Coast League and discuss what should be a just and proper compensation for the San Francisco territory," said Stoneham. "Machinery has been set up for such arbitration. We certainly are ready to abide by whatever the decision."

Stoneham said he had been given to understand that plans already have been drawn up for the proposed new 45,000-capacity stadium and that if the plans are approved the arena could be ready for the 1958 season.

"I've been told the park may be ready by next summer," he said. "Until then we plan to play our games in Seal Stadium, which seats approximately 22,000. It is our present intention to play all day games there with the exception of twice a week, Tuesday and Friday nights. We certainly don't believe in a complete night schedule."

Stoneham reiterated the underlying reasons for the Giants' decision.

sion to quit New York were the steadily diminishing attendance, the inadequate parking facilities and the prospect of losing the lease at the Polo Grounds.

"Naturally, I'm very sorry to leave New York," he said. "It's a wrench to leave the place where I was born and raised. But we just couldn't go along this way. Conditions were such that we had to act immediately or be left out in the cold. If we didn't make our move now, I'm certain some other club would beat us to the punch in San Francisco. As far as I am concerned, next to New York, San Francisco is the only city in the United States."

Both the Giants and Dodgers were given the green light to move to the coast at a National League meeting last May. At the time it was believed permission was given contingent upon the two teams moving together.

"That's not so," said Stoneham. "One move is independent of the other. The Giants were given permission to move regardless of what Brooklyn does. The next move is ours. We don't even have to have another vote. We already have the permission."

Stoneham and his family own 60 per cent of the Giants' stock. He said he could have made the franchise transfer just with the family vote.

"But I didn't want to take advantage and try to force the transfer without the approval of the others," he said.

The Stoneham stock is owned by Horace, his sister Mrs. Charles Auderhar, his son, Charles (Pete) Stoneham, and his nephew, Charles (Chub) Feeney. Young Stoneham and Feeney are vice presidents and members of the board of directors.

Stoneham said the offer from Mayor George Christopher "was so satisfactory we couldn't turn it down."

He produced a letter he had received from Christopher, outlining the city's offer to the Giants. It included such inducements as a municipally built stadium with a 35-year lease, an attractively low rental based on five per cent of the gross receipts, and full control of the concessions. The Giants' rent will be the five per cent against a guarantee of $125,000 a year.

"We figure to draw well over a million people even if we play our home games in Seal Stadium next season," Stoneham said. "We also have a contract with Kiatron, a pay-as-you-go firm, to telecast our home games on a closed circuit."

Council To Hear Golf Association Representatives

Mayor And Councilmen Ask More Investigation After Pioneers Visit

Golf course expansion at Pioneers Park will again head City Council action next Monday as councilmen voted to hear representatives of the Pioneers Golf Association before deciding how to alleviate the crowded situation on the public links.

After a trip to Pioneers golf course with park and recreation officials Monday, Mayor Bennett Martin and councilmen conceded that more investigation of the problem was necessary.

Martin said he would:

1. Contact the state to see about leasing an 18-acre tract east of the present club house as a possible site for a full-size nine-hole extension.
2. Authorize cost studies on a grass green 9-hole course. The Council was informed by letter from a member of the Pioneers Golf Association board that grass greens would cost approximately $2,000 per green plus a $37,000 cost for watering equipment.
3. Investigate reports that owners of East Hills Country Club near 70th and A are planning to acquire land and re-open the golf links at that location.

James Ager, park superintendent, told the group that the par-3 "pitch and putt" course which he had earlier recommended, using sand greens and city equipment, would cost the city "little more than purchase of the sand."

Several councilmen voiced opinions that a "stop-gap" measure such as a short course would not satisfy the majority of golfers now using the course.

C. W. D. Kinsey, city councilman who first proposed an 18-hole extension to the city's only municipal golf links, told the group that a sand greens course would not satisfy the golfers or meet the needs of Pioneers.

John Peterson, golf pro at Pioneers, gave the survey group a rundown on the problem. An estimated 30,000 to 35,000 golfers tour the course annually, he said, with the major "squeeze" coming during the early morning hours.

Hardly a day goes by without a tournament of some sort during the heavy golfing season, Peterson explained, crowding regular golfers off the course or causing congestion.

Revenue from Association memberships, greens fees and concessions should reach about $50,000 for the 1957 season, Peterson estimated.

During the tour, Ager pointed the area out which is available for a short fairway course, pointed out the state land adjacent which is not now used. He commented that although the area, with state land, is large enough for an additional full-size 9-hole addition, the course might well prove the hardest of the Pioneer facilities because of its hilly location.

Martin said that some of the possible discussion points with Pioneers Golf Association members next Monday might be the raising of association membership fees and of greens fees to help finance the expansion, suggestions on enlargement of the eating concessions at the club house, and members suggestions on what type of additional facilities are most needed at the Pioneers club.

Joining the councilmen and mayor on the Pioneers golf club visit and a tour of the city dump were Safety and Welfare Director Emmett Junge, City Recreation Director James Lewis, and Ager.

A's Gorman Sets Down Indians, 1-0

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Four-hit pitching by Tom Gorman and clutch singles by Bob Cerv and Tim Thompson gave the Kansas City Athletics a 1-0 victory over the Cleveland Indians Monday.

Gorman, now 3-7, won a pitcher's duel with the Indians' fast-balling Ray Narleski. The veteran A's pitcher allowed only four bases on balls. He fanned two of the last three batters he faced.

Narleski scattered five hits and fanned six batters but gave up six bases on balls. He allowed Kansas City to score in the sixth inning when Cerv singled to center and then dashed home on a single to right by Thompson. Cerv had stolen second.

Thompson had gone hitless in 42 previous trips to the plate. The hit was his first since July 23.

Gorman was in deepest trouble in the fourth when Gene Woodling doubled and moved to third as Gorman threw out Rocky Colavito at first. But Vic Power made a fine stop of a ground ball by Bobby Avila and threw out Woodling as the Indian outfielder attempted to score. Then Joe Altobelli singled to right, sending Avila to third. But Chico Carrasquel flied to Gus Zernial for the third out.

The shutout was the second of Gorman's major league career and the fourth of the season by a Kansas City pitcher. It was his first complete game of the season.

Both Facing Favorite 'Cousins'

Ted-Mickey Duel To Speed Up

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK (AP)—Ted Williams and Mickey Mantle enter another phase of their exciting American League batting race Tuesday night and they likely will continue their drive toward the coveted .400 mark.

The optimism is based on the fact that Williams will be facing Cleveland's pitchers off whom he's collected 25 hits in 47 times at bat for a .532 average. Mantle will be going against Kansas City moundmen and he's belabored them for a .460 mark on 23 safeties in 50 tries.

Don Mossi is scheduled to face Williams and the Boston Red Sox while Ralph Terry is the A's probable against Mantle and the New York Yankees.

Neither Williams, who will reach his 39th birthday on Aug. 30 nor Mantle, a sprightly 25, shows any signs of letting up. In last week's games, Williams boosted his average to .392 with seven hits in 14 trips. This represented a five point pickup. Mantle lifted his mark six points to .385 with a 12-for-25 performance.

One of Mantle's blows was a home run enabling him to maintain his edge in this department with 32. Williams and Sievers are tied for the runner-up position with 31 home runs each.

A grand slam home run by Sievers, Washington's big gun, against Boston on Sunday put the Senators' slugger into a tie with Mantle for the runs batted in lead. Each has 86.

In the National League, Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cards wrestled the batting lead from Milwaukee's Hank Aaron. Musial gained one point to .333 while Aaron, who managed only six hits in 33 at bats, dropped into a third place deadlock at .327 with Willie Mays of the New York Giants and Frank Robinson of Cincinnati.

Topeka Downs Dukes, 5-3; Tanner Homers

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—Rudy Tanner's two-run homer in the first inning started Topeka to a 5-3 Western League victory over the Albuquerque Dukes here Monday night.

The victory gave the series to the Hawks 5-1. Preacher Williams' double in the sixth drove in Jim McDaniel in the sixth.

Wynton Overstreet picked up his fifth win 11 decisions with a six-hitter. The Hawks touched Ralph Mason for nine hits in the win.

The Dukes travel Tuesday night, as all Western League teams move eastward for the final time in the season. Albuquerque opens a three-game series at Lincoln Wednesday, then plays at Des Moines, Topeka and Amarillo before returning home Sept. 3.

Teen-Agers Steal Show In Amateur

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Marlene Stewart Streit got off to a winning start in defense of her U.S. Women's National Amateur golf title Monday but teen-agers stole the show in first-round play at the Del Paso Country Club course.

Mrs. Streit, a short brown-haired, 22-year-old from Fonthill, Ontario, Canada, had little difficulty in defeating Elizabeth Brand of Sacramento 7 and 5. The champ was two over par on the rolling 38-36-74 par layout.

The upset of the day went to Judy Eller, 16, the National Junior titleholder from Old Hickory, Tenn. She defeated Grace Lenczyk of Newington, Conn., 6 and 4.

Grace held the national title in 1948.

Anne Quast and Joanne Gunderson, two big hitters from Washington, posted lopsided victories.

In a match which went to the wire, Grace Demoss of Corvallis, Oregon, a former Curtis Cup team member, defeated Mrs. Eolme Thornton of Long Beach, Calif., 1-up. Mrs. Thornton is a National Negro champion and was the sole lefthander in this 57th annual national tournament.

State Honors To Geistlinger

Sherrill Geistlinger of Lincoln defeated Sus Ihnen of Omaha 6-1, 6-2 in the finals to win the Nebraska state girls tennis championship Monday at the Lincoln Tennis Club.

Sherrill defeated Jan Carlson of Lincoln, 6-2, 6-5, 2 earlier.

The Ihnen-Geistlinger match was the only final Monday. Other results:

Fairbury, Gothenburg Women Are Killed

Mrs. Deger's Auto Struck Bridge Rail

Two Nebraska women — one from Fairbury and the other a Gothenburg farm woman — lost their lives Monday in separate highway accidents in the state, bringing the 1957 traffic fatality toll to 169, compared with 183 at this time last year.

The latest victims:

Mrs. Everett Deger, 39, Fairbury.

Mrs. Alyce M. Goudy, 25, Gothenburg.

Mrs. Deger died about 11:30 a.m. Monday, two hours after her auto crashed into a bridge railing. Mrs. Deger was alone in her car when it hit the railing of the bridge across the Little Blue River on Highway 15 about one mile south of Fairbury.

Officers said they were unable to determine what caused the crash.

Mrs. Deger was thrown from the wreckage. Passing trucks extinguished a blaze which started in the car.

Surviving Mrs. Deger are her husband; four children, Steven, Barbara, Dana and Carla; her mother, Mrs. Claude Reynolds of Fairbury; a sister, Mrs. Don Bortoff of Palm Springs, Calif.; and her grandfather, John Sparks of Fairbury.

The Gothenburg woman was killed Monday in a railroad accident at Gothenburg.

A Union Pacific railroad spokesman said she was alone in her car when it was struck by a west-bound freight train at the first crossing west of Gothenburg depot.

KFAB Planning Editorial Voice; First In Midwest

OMAHA (AP)—General Manager Lyell Bremser announced Monday that Omaha radio station KFAB will present an editorial voice starting next Monday.

Bremser said editorial opinions will be presented at various times during a new five-hour morning show running from 5:30 to 10:30 o'clock.

The general manager said KFAB is the first radio station in the Midwest and one of the first in the nation to adopt an editorial policy on a regular basis.

Bremser said the Federal Communications Commission some time ago ruled that radio stations operate in the public interest by editorializing and encourage them to do so.

"News is news and editorials are editorials," Bremser said. "Each will be presented separate and apart and clearly identified for what it is."

Dr. Person Honored For Top Service

By Veterinary Assn.

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The American Veterinary Medical Assn. Monday named Dr. O. H. Person, Wahoo, Neb., as the 1957 recipient of its award for meritorious service to its membership.

Dr. Person is the eighth member to be given the award and the first from Nebraska.

Now retired, Dr. Person practiced veterinary medicine in Wahoo for 35 years, he was mayor of Wahoo for 16 years and a member of the Nebraska Legislature for 10 years.

The AVMD awarded a certificate of recognition to Nancy Louise Koenen of Hastings, Neb., in connection with its Humane Act Award program.

Miss Koenen found a stray dog while walking with a baby she was caring for. The thin, flea-covered animal was afraid of people but Miss Koenen made friends, took it home and cared for it.

Today it is among Miss Koenen's 10 pets — the nine of which are cats.

Ex-Treasurer Owed $5,935, Audit Shows

BEATRICE, Neb. (AP)—State Auditor Ray C. Johnson Monday filed an audit with Gage County showing that former County Treasurer Claude C. Carpenter had owed the county $5,935.07.

Carpenter was convicted and fined last April on an embezzlement charge involving $553.09. The court ordered restitution of that amount, which was part of the total shown by the audit Monday.

The audit listed shortages as $4,385.82. It also showed $871.39 for items "on which he failed to do his duty"—mostly distress warrants which were issued but never delivered to the sheriff—and $695.86 in interest on the various accounts.

Deducting the amount paid by Carpenter in making the court-ordered restitution, the audit said Carpenter or his bonding company still owed the county $5,939.98.

Carpenter is now in Texas but left cash and property in trust in Gage County.

Rosier Must Enter Plea By August 27

SIoux CITY, Iowa (AP)—Richard L. Rosier, 30, a Colorado ex-convict, Monday was granted until Aug. 27 to enter a plea to an information charging him with assault with intent to murder.

The postponement was granted after Rosier's court-appointed attorney said additional time was needed.

Rosier is accused of severely beating Jeffrey Vennard, 13-year-old Sioux City boy, last June. He was charged after police questioned him following a bizarre incident last week in which Rosier was found hanging by his wrists in his service station.

Rosier claimed four masked men beat him, tortured him, and suspended him from the ceiling during a $150 robbery.

Senate OKs $2,800,000 Expense To Fight Flu

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Senate approved Monday night a bill allowing the government to spend up to $2,800,000 to fight the Asiatic flu epidemic expected this fall and winter.

The measure authorizes the expenditures of $800,000 in new funds for immediate use and the remaining two million dollars in standing spending authority if needed by the Public Health Service.

The use of $800,000 is $300,000 more than the administration requested.

The two million dollars could be drawn from disaster relief funds if the flu outbreak becomes "an actual or potential health emergency of national significance."

To Conference

The funds were provided in a supplemental appropriations bill carrying $1,824,001,547 to help finance various government agencies this year.

The measure was passed and sent to a House-Senate conference by voice vote.

The Senate Appropriations Committee said the extra $300,000 to combat flu would enable the Public Health Service to contract with 42 state, university and private laboratories for diagnostic and surveillance work. The $500,000 budgetary request would have allowed only 20 such contracts, the committee said.

The two million dollars in standing authority would be used to expand the government's program in the event the present mild form of Asiatic flu virus became more severe or more widespread than now anticipated.

Easing Off

INDEPENDENCE, La. (INS)—An epidemic of 8,000 cases of influenza—some of which may be of the Asiatic variety—was reported easing off in three adjacent Louisiana parishes (counties.)

Paul Keine, director of the Lallie Kemp Charity Hospital in Independence, said some 4,000 persons were treated in Tangipahoa

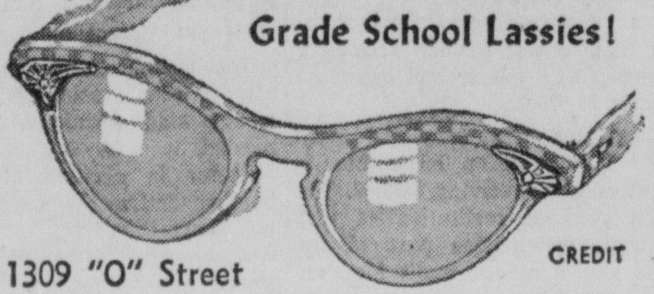

Parish alone for attacks of influenza, but stressed that it was not known how many could be called Asiatic flu.

The hospital administrator said the number of patients—mostly out-patients—has "fallen off" in the past few days, adding: "The epidemic appears to be easing off."

Navy Air Base Here For Sure Until June 30

"The big question now is whether or not the station will be closed" at the end of the fiscal year June 30, Cmdr. G. K. Sherman, information officer at the Lincoln Naval Air Station, said Monday.

The Navy announced Monday that the base will operate under a reduced budget in the current fiscal year, apparently leaving the economies to its commanding officer, Capt. Bill A. Miles.

"The base had been authorized to reduce civilian personnel as necessary to remain within these reduced operating funds," the Navy announcement said, "however, there is no information available at this time as to any possible closing of the base."

The Navy had said earlier all 49 civilian employees would be removed from the payroll by June 30.

Lincoln has one of the smallest Naval Air stations in the country, Cmdr. Sherman said. He said if the base here was closed reservists would have to train at Minneapolis, Minn., Olathe, Kan., or Glenview, Ill.

Ex-Parker Home Leased By City For $35 A Month

The City Council okayed a six-month rental lease on the Antelope Park forester's house — scene of the December, 1955 murder of Mrs. Nancy Parker — to Mr. and Mrs. Richard V. Snyder.

The house at 3200 Sumner was moved into Antelope Park for the use of City Forester Darrel Parker, and was occupied by the Parkers until the murder. Parker was subsequently convicted of first degree murder and is now serving a life sentence at the State Penitentiary.

Safety and Welfare Director Emmett Junge told the city officials that the house had been vacant "for some time" and recommended the lease at $35 monthly rent. After the six-month period, the cottage will be let on a month-to-month basis at $65 monthly, he said, and will eventually be used to house a city forester when one is hired.

A Major Literary Find!

A great true adventure story taken from a manuscript that, for 52 years, gathered attic dust, unpublished.

In 1856, a runaway boy named Thomas Tibbles lit out for the West and joined a band of Indians. He became one of them, joining their secret societies, hunting buffaloes, even going on the warpath.

Now, a century later, the long-lost story of his adventure has come to light — and in this week's Saturday Evening Post you'll read this astonishing true account just as he wrote it down himself!

It's one of the most exciting and candid stories of life in our early West ever written! You won't want to miss "Buckskin and Blanket Days."

State Institution Population Down 116

Board of Control figures disclosed Monday that the population of Nebraska's 16 Board institutions dropped by 116 persons during the first six months of this year.

From January to July 1, the total of patients and inmates decreased from 8,752 to 8,636.

The number of employees, however, increased from 3,418 to 3,446 during the period, the board's new population report showed.

The board twice a year summarizes population and employee figures for the charitable, mental, penal and educational institutions under its direction.

The population of the three mental hospitals, at Hastings, Norfolk and Lincoln, dropped by 50 patients during the half year—to 4,526. Employees at the three hospitals increased by 13, however—to 1,845.

Sharpest fluctuation among any of the institutions was recorded at the Boys Training School at Kearney, which had 219 inmates at the year's start, but only 144 at mid-year.

The July 1 total of residents and employees at the institutions, with Jan. 1 comparable figures shown in parenthesis, included:

Boys' State: 262 residents (2,043); 280 employees (367).

Nebraska State Hospital: 1,234 residents (1,181); 41 employees (38).

Grand Island Soldiers' and Sailors' Home: 187 residents (200); 94 employees (94).

Hastings State Hospital: 1,639 residents (1,692); 635 employees (647).

Kearney Boys' Training School: 144 residents (219); 75 employees (81).

Kearney Hospital For The Tuberculous: 134 residents (151); 139 employees (143).

Lincoln State Hospital: 1,383 residents (1,511); 634 employees (600).

Lincoln Orthopedic Hospital: 63 residents (57); 113 employees (113).

Out-patient clinic—1,623 patients (1,580).

Lincoln State Penitentiary: 739 residents

(746); 215 employees (217).

Nebraska Psychiatric Institute at Omaha: 66 residents (80); 286 employees (256).

Out-patient clinic—350 patients (256).

Nebraska City School For Blind: 64 residents (65); 37 employees (37).

Norfolk State Hospital: 1,254 residents (1,233); 376 employees (385).

Omaha School For Deaf: 138 residents (129); 62 employees (62).

York Women's Reformatory: 43 residents (32); 19 employees (19).

Lincoln Home For Children: 87 residents (82); 62 employees (60).

Lincoln State Reformatory: 290 residents (294); 69 employees (84).

Egyptians Stop Ship Bound For Israel At Suez

PORT SAID, Egypt (INS)—A Norwegian freighter, bound for the Far East from Israel, was allowed to pass through the Suez Canal Monday, but another Norwegian ship, destined for Israel, was held up at Port Suez.

The cargo ship Hubro, which had sailed from Haifa, Israel, with a shipment of potash for Japan, was delayed at Port Said Sunday, then permitted to pass through Monday.

But the Freighter Mars, which arrived at Port Suez Friday, was still tied up there pending orders from Cairo.

Taylor Biography

NEW YORK (AP)—A drama based on the life of one of the stage's most famous dramatic actresses, the late Laurette Taylor, is being prepared for Broadway production next year. It is being written by Alan Pakula, a movie writer, and is being based on the best-selling biography of Miss Taylor by her daughter, Marguerite Courtney.

Gov. Knight Will Seek Re-Election

... He Takes A Shot At Sen. Knowland

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California's Republican Gov. Goodwin Knight Monday announced his candidacy for re-election next year with a William F. Knowland, against using the state office as a "paw in the presidential contest."

Reports have been current that Knowland will oppose Knight for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Knight noted that California has two potential contenders for President in 1960. Both, he said, without identifying them as Knowland and Vice President Nixon, are able and distinguished men.

But, he added, in what could only be taken as reproach for Knowland:

"The governor's office of California, at this critical period, however, is far too important to the welfare of the people of this state to be allowed to become a pawn in the presidential contest."

Knight said he was making his declaration early "to resolve any doubts concerning my intentions."

He acted to get the jump on Knowland in the event California's senior senator and Senate minority leader decides, as widely expected, to oppose Knight.

Knowland has arranged a month-long statewide speaking tour beginning Sept. 3. He has said he will announce his decision after that.

Knight, 59, has been California's chief executive since Earl Warren went to the Supreme Court in 1953.

Loren J. Hobbs, Beatrice Banker Since 1912, Dies

Lincoln Star Special
BEATRICE, Neb. — Loren J. Hobbs, 65, lifelong resident of Beatrice and associated with Beatrice banks since 1912, died at his home here. He was a member of the Beatrice Elk's Club and of St. Joseph's Catholic Church.

Mr. Hobbs joined the Beatrice State Bank in 1912 and later in 1950, when that bank merged with the Beatrice National Bank, he became associated with the latter bank. He was a vice president at the time of his death.

Survivors include his wife, Josephine; one daughter, Mrs. Jack E. Woodford of Lincoln; four brothers, Harry, Homer and Clyde, all of Beatrice, and Frank of Oakdale, Calif.; five sisters, Mrs. Nick Johnson of Arvada, Colo., Misses Helen and Blanche Hobbs, both of Detroit, Mich., and Misses Jennie and Mary Hobbs, both of Beatrice; and one grand-daughter.

Services will be at 10 a.m. Wednesday at St. Joseph's Catholic Church of Beatrice. The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Griffiths-Fox Chapel at Beatrice.

Senate Committee Fails To Rule On 18,000 Unused Immigration Permits

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee failed to decide Monday what to do with some 18,000 immigration permits that went unused under the 1953 Refugee Relief Act.

Subject to working out that issue, the committee agreed to report out

Omaha Attorney Claims He's Already Been Over-Punished

James J. Fitzgerald of Omaha, former Douglas County attorney, told the State Supreme Court Monday he already had been punished "out of all proportion to the act committed" in failing to file federal income tax returns.

The observation was contained in a brief filed by Fitzgerald's attorneys in response to an action brought by the Nebraska State Bar Assn., asking that Fitzgerald be disciplined for failing to file the income tax returns as required by law.

Fitzgerald pleaded nolo contendere (no contest) to the federal income charges, a misdemeanor. On this ground, the Bar Association

Irrigation Well Permit Bargain Being Grabbed

These are "bargain days" in the irrigation division of the State Department of Roads and Irrigation, and a lot of "shoppers" apparently are taking advantage of them.

Nebraska irrigators currently can register their irrigation wells with the state at a fee of $5.

Come Sept. 20, the fee goes up to $7.50.

Since April 1, 3,256 irrigation wells have been registered with the state, Irrigation Chief Dan Jones reported Monday. That's more than the entire total of wells registered prior to April 1.

Monday's mail brought 75 well registrations.

A bill passed by the last legislature is no direct reference to the exact identification of a specific petition.

A total of seven of the post cards were received in the Secretary of State's office Monday. Three of them stated that the person mailing them had not signed the petitions. One of them remarked, "Have not signed it and do not intend to."

Of the other four cards, two each bore names requesting withdrawal of signatures, and one name appeared on each of the others, making a total of six requests for withdrawal.

All were from Lancaster County, except one from Buffalo County.

Bees Halt Work

HAIFA, Israel (AP) — There was a slight delay in unloading 5,000 tons of Brazilian sugar from the Italian freighter Duegoli. A swarm of bees attacked longshoremen when they tackled the job. After hurried consultations, the start was postponed until the bees conked off somewhere for the night.

permit increased immigration and provide asylum here for future refugees.

However, Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.), one of the sponsors of the compromise bill, told newsmen it was the best that could be obtained at this time.

For Relief

It would ease some immigration restrictions and is designed to provide relief in individual hardship cases.

No provision is made to open the way for granting permanent residence to Hungarian refugees admitted last fall on a temporary basis. Dirksen, however, said he thought this could be done later and made retroactive.

The House bill would keep alive some 18,000 visas not used when the 1953 Refugee Relief Act expired last Dec. 31. They would be made available to the countries for which they were originally earmarked, principally West Germany and the Netherlands.

A similar provision was written into the Senate bill last week, plus a provision to permit up to 1,500 refugees or escapees from political persecution in the Middle East to be admitted on a non-quota basis.

Redraft

However, at Monday's meeting, the Senate committee instructed its staff to redraft this section of the bill. Once this is done, another meeting is planned in an effort to reach agreement.

Representatives of Hungarian immigrant and refugee groups in the United States called on Rep. Walter (D-Pa) to seek help for 10,000 Hungarian refugees in Yugoslavia and about 30,000 in Austria. They also asked that the 25,000 parolees admitted last fall be given permanent residence.

Walter was quoted by the Hungarians as saying that 2,000 refugees will be flown into the United States from a Yugoslav airport before Dec. 1. Concerning the parolees, he asked for patience.
